The Kings Mountain Assembly was also recognized with a gold star for its work during the past year.

The Grand Assembly opened with a church service on Thursday and climaxed on Saturday with installation of new officers for the coming year and a formal dance.

The Veterans Corner

Q — Occasionally I see a Veterans Administration-reposessed home advertised for sale. Does a prospective buyer have to be a veteran to qualify as a purchaser? Does a person deal with VA or with a real estate firm? Is there any saving by dealing directly with VA?

A — In answer to your first question, a person need not be a veteran to buy a VA-reposessed home. Such homes are generally sold through real estate brokers approved by VA. The VA does not reduce its list sale price when it is approached directly by a prospective purchaser. So there is no saving to be made by not contacting a sales broker. You may obtain a list of approved local sales brokers and further information about VA reposessed homes from your nearest VA regional office.

Q — Is it true that a recent law passed by Congress provides for a burial allowance for veterans who have been honorably discharged since Jan. 31, 1953?

A — Not exactly. The law provides that the Veterans Adminstration may pay up to $250 toward the cost of burial for a veteran who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, if he served during wartime or after Aug. 4, 1964, the "Viet Nam era." For the veteran who served after Jan. 31, 1955, but prior to Aug. 5, 1964, VA may pay up to $250 for burial expenses if he was receiving compensation for a service-connected disability at the time of his death, if he was discharged from service for a disability incurred in line of duty, or if he died of a service-connected disability. The claim must be filed with VA within two years of the veteran's burial or cremation.
