"The Star-Spangled Girl" Is Last Of Summer Theatre's Productions

Laugh-packed "The Star-Spangled Girl" is the final production of the Charlotte Summer Theatre's ninth consecutive season in air-conditioned Ovens Auditorium. The marvellously funny comedy by Neil "Odd Couple" Simon, in an exclusive engagement in the Carolinas, stars Edd "Kookie" Byrnes, Diane McBain and Carleton Carpenter, opening August 27 and playing eight hilarious performances through Sunday evening, September 1 at 7:30.

"Star-Spangled Girl" takes place in a San Francisco duplex apartment, the home of "Fallout" Magazine, its published-editor-in-chief Andy Hobart (Edd Byrnes), and its sole writer Norman Cornell (Carleton Carpenter). When the beautiful, blond and bustling Sophi Raushmeyer (Diane McBain) moves next door, "Fallout" Magazine falls apart, owing to the obsessive infatuation of protest-writer Norman for Miss Olympic Swimmer, who, in turn, takes a distinct dislike for the clumsy, cloddish but well-intentioned author. Because of his mania for Sophie, Norman stops writing, leaving publisher Andy to fend off kick-seeking landladies and other persistent bill-collectors, and eventually even Sophie, who becomes enamoured of the witty but straight-laced entrepreneur. The ternal triangle presents a perfect situation for funny-man Neil Simon who wrote last season's "Barefoot in the Park" and "Sweet Charity," in addition to "The Odd Couple."

Mr. Byrnes, who rose to international fame as the comb-borrowing Kookie in the "77 Sunset Strip" series, has won every major award for his stage, screen and television acting. He has appeared in such fine movies as "Up Periscope," "Harporie Morningstar," "Daddy's Rangers," "Johnny Trouble," "Secret Invasion" and "Beach Ball." "Payment in Blood" and "Purse and Kill" are two movies which star Mr. Byrnes to be realised soon. His stage roles were in "Picnic," "Pal Joey" and "Damn Yankee." He has appeared on television in such far-ranging shows as "Kraft Suspense Theatre" and "The Alfred Hitchcock Hour" to every top musical variety show in the country and in London, plus his own special show in Munich, Germany.

As the "Star-Spangled Girl," Miss McBain makes her initial appearance at the Charlotte Summer Theatre. The blond and beautiful veteran of tv's "Surfside Six," has appeared in a score of movies, including "Caudel English," "Parrish," "Ice Palace" with Richard Burton, "Mary, Mary," "Black Gold," "Spinout" with Elvis Presley, "Thunder Alley," "Maryjane," "Flight from the Hawk," "I Sailed to Tahiti" with an All Girl Crew. The "Girl" promises to top off the al-former model with a penchant for tennis and horse back riding, traveled to Vietnam to visit the troops for the Christmas holidays for the past two years. Her permanent home is in Sherman Oaks where she lives alone with her dog, Coquette.
