

Services Held For J. B. Goforth

Junius Brady (J. B.) Goforth, 72, died in a Charlotte hospital September 25. He was formerly of Kings Mountain but lived at 1629 S. Tryon Street at the time of his death.

Funeral services were conducted on Friday, Sept. 27, at 11 a.m. at the Hankins and Whittington Funeral Chapel with the Rev. B. Conrad Johnston, minister of First Baptist Church of Edgefield, S. C., officiating. Interment was in the Canaan Methodist Church cemetery at Smryna, S. C.

Born in Cleveland County December 22, 1895, he was the son of the late William Longstreet Goforth and Frances Cornelia Watterson Goforth. He was a retired employee of Duke Power Company, having worked for that firm for 43 years. He was a member of Dilworth Methodist Church and a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his widow, Pearl Moss Goforth; three brothers, Joseph A. Goforth, Rufus Hall Goforth, Ransom DeShea Goforth; three sisters, Mrs. Charlie Goforth, Mrs. Lemuel Ware, Mrs. Samuel Dye, all of Kings Mountain.

Crime Council United Fund's New Agency

The North Carolina Council on Crime and Delinquency is one of the newest agencies serving our community and our state. It is a Citizen Action Program—a special approach developed by the National Council (NCCD) to work towards the development of the most efficient and effective system for the administration of justice. The program is operating in 19 other states—quite successfully, having been initiated in 1955.

The Citizen Action Program (CAP) is designed to combine the abilities and skills of business and professional leaders with the technical knowledge of a staff professional. Both the committee and the staff person are backed by varied resources of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency—the parent organization.

The President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice released the following statement on February 18, 1967:

"The responsibility of the individual citizen runs far deeper than cooperating with the police. Private citizens on their own or

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS

What happens if there should be nominees from three or more political parties for the presidency of the United States and no one candidate should obtain a majority of the electoral votes?

The Constitution requires that the House of Representatives shall choose a President from the three highest on the electoral list. In such case each state delegation in the House has one vote, and the successful candidate must through their organizations must interest themselves in the problems of crime and criminal justice, seek information, express their views, use their vote wisely... and get involved."

The CAP does this in the most constructive way. Basically, the CAP does four things. It examines and evaluates the state's correctional needs; it determines what program changes are needed and makes recommendations for improving services; it informs the public of the needs; and — it acts to carry out its recommendations. This latter step—"action"—is frequently missing in some programs. It is the essential ingredient of the Citizen Action Program. It is supported by your contributions to the United Fund.

receive the majority vote of all states.

Three Presidents have been chosen by the House — namely, Thomas Jefferson in 1800, John Quincy Adams in 1824, and Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876.

In the Hayes-Tilden election dispute of 1876 conflicting returns had been sent in from several states, and Congress designated a commission to determine which returns (which set of electors) should be accepted. The commission decided (by a strict party vote) that the results were 185 for Hayes and 184 for Tilden. This is the election in which Tilden received 250,000 more popular votes than Hayes.

May persons having their legal residence in the District of Columbia vote for the president of the United States?

Yes. For the first time in history they voted in 1964 for the election of President and Vice President of the United States.

An amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which became effective April 3, 1961, expressly so provided.

How many times has the person elected president of the United States received less than half of the popular votes?

The winning candidate under our electoral college system has received less than half of the popular vote fourteen times.

How old must a person be at the time of his election as president of the United States?

Thirty-five years of age.

When does a newly elected president of the United States assume office?

At noon on January 20.

College Enrollment Survey Set

Information to determine how many children and adults under 35 are enrolled either in school or college will be sought here the week of October 14. Director Joseph R. Norwood of the Regional Office of the U. S. Bureau of the Census in Charlotte announced today.

Questions are asked of householders each year at this time to update national figures on enrollment in public, private and special schools; full-and-part-time college attendance; the number of high school graduates and dropouts; and the last year of regular schooling for non-high school graduates. The questions to be asked here are in addition to those that the Census Bureau asks each month to obtain data for use by the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics in determining national employment figures.

The survey will be taken simultaneously throughout the U. S. from a representative sample of the nation's households. All answers are confidential, and the information obtained will be used for statistical purposes only. Census Bureau interviewers

Lithium Honors Dr. Ellestad

BESSEMER CITY — Dr. Reuben B. Ellestad was honored by Lithium Corporation of America with a testimonial dinner at the Gaston Country Club on Tuesday. Officials from the company's executive offices in New York and Houston, Texas — special guests from several parts of the country, as well as staff personnel of the Bessemer City plant and laboratories were in attendance.

Dr. Ellestad joined Lithium Corporation in 1942 when the company was first formed to produce lithium products for World War II use. He invented the process still used for the extraction of lithium chemicals from spodumene ore mined in North Carolina and processed in the firm's Bessemer City plant. He was appointed Vice President and Director of Research in 1956. Since 1967 he has held the position of Senior Scientist. Dr. Ellestad is a native of Lanesboro, Minnesota, and received his doctorate in Analytical Chemistry from the University of Minnesota in 1929.

Dr. Ellestad's contributions to Lithium Corporation and the lithium industry were recounted by several staff members. The firm's president, Mr. Harry D. Feltenstein, Jr., paid tribute to his activities and expressed the hope that Dr. Ellestad would be able to continue his association with the company for many years to come. As a special token of appreciation for more than twenty-five years of service, Dr. Ellestad was presented with a celestial telescope to enable him to pursue a life-long interest in astronomy.

PONTIAC ANNOUNCES THE GREAT BREAK AWAY!

This is the year to say good-bye to humdrum driving!
'69 Wide-Track Pontiac Grand Prix.

If you've never driven a car like this before, that's because there's never been a car like this Pontiac Grand Prix before. So new, it's got its own 118" wheelbase. So new, it's got its own aircraft-type interior. A new steering wheel with a "soft" material rim. With a Wide-Track on big tires. With a new hidden radio antenna we're daring everybody to find.

Or maybe you'd like to break away with a brand-new Firebird. With typical Wide-Track handling and a range of available V-8 choices that'll make your head spin (including the fabulous 400 Ram Air option). Brand-new styling, too. Lean, clean, ready looks. Plus 13 exciting new colors... new anti-theft ignition, steering and transmission lock.

There's also The Great One. Our GTO, the one that started it all. Complete with baseball-bat-proof bumper, fully padded instrument panel, distinctive Redline tires, along with specially designed suspension. Plus an assortment of V-8's that'll make your break from dull driving just about as pleasing as any you've ever made.

And don't forget our luxurious Bonneville. With a standard, 360-hp, 428-cubic-inch V-8, a long, long 125" wheelbase, a new upper-level ventilation system, color-keyed energy absorbing bumper at both front and rear, plus the kind of interiors you'd like to install at home. Bonneville. Who needs more?
