Back-To-School Lunches Feature Meat Dishes

Although the children are finally in school you still have their lunches to contend with. Every noon they bound into the kitchen hungry for a good lunch. And, Mom, you want to give them something which will be nutritious and hearty enough to last them through dinner.

Lunch is important to a school-age child because it is an opportunity to give him many important nutrients. With all his energy and get-up-and-go, breakfast is only a memory when the lunch bell rings. Canned foods are always on hand to help you prepare the best for him.

BACON LUNCHEON
Children love finger foods. Cut canned luncheon meat into 10 finger-shaped pieces. Wrap a half slice of bacon around each piece of meat and fasten with a toothpick. Broil, turning often, until the bacon is crisp. If your child likes seasonings you may sprinkle with garlic salt or serve with chili sauce. Otherwise, have catsup ready for dipping.

CHICKEN-CORN GUMBO
A hot bowl of soup is good at lunch. Try combining a can of chicken gumbo soup with a can of corn chowder. Add a dash of curry powder. Heat and serve.

COFFEE SAUCE FOR CANNED PUDDINGS
Canned puddings are a dessert favorite for a child. Adults may like the added flavor of a coffee sauce. Beat 1/2 cup powdered sugar and some powdered instant coffee into an egg. Fold into whipped cream. This is great on vanilla or chocolate pudding.

BEAN SUPER CASSEROLE
Raking the leaves and fixing the garden bring out an appetite. Have this dish waiting for your family. Alternate 2 cans of pork beans with 1 can of tomato sauce. Add 1/2 cup of beans. Add 1/2 cup of tomato sauce. Add 1/2 cup of beans. Add 1/2 cup of tomato sauce.

Miss Jan Davis Will Wed Scott Cole In Church Rites Set For November 9

Mr. and Mrs. John Ed Davis of Shelby announce the engagement to their daughter, Janice Maria, to Charles Scott Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Cole, also of Shelby but formerly of Kings Mountain.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Shelby High School with the class of 1968 and is a freshman at Gardner-Webb College.

The bridegroom-elect is also a graduate of Shelby High School and is presently serving with the U. S. Air Force as Airman first class, stationed at Chanute Field, Ill. Prior to entering service he was employed with Fiber Industries.

The wedding will be an event of November 9 in First Baptist Church of Shelby.

Five Senior Girl Scouts Return From Tri-County Scouting Event

Five Senior Girl Scouts from Troop 200 of Kings Mountain attended a Tri-County Scouting event, "Be In On The Happenings", at Charlotte's Ramada Inn last weekend.

Those attending were Susan Goforth, Jane Yates, Suzanne Amos, Ann Baird and Frances McGill.

Girl Scouts from Hornets' Nest, Pioneer, and Greensboro, Winston, made up the council event along with those from the Gastonia Girl Scout Council.

Republican National Committeewoman, Mrs. Rogers, and W. C. Johnson, Jr., Democrat, professor of political science at Davidson college, were keynote speakers. Members of the staff of the Charlotte Observer conducted workshops on subjects such as politics, international relations, social welfare and others. The young people took a tour of the campus of UNC at Charlotte and heard leaders of youth political parties discuss current issues.

The new officers recently elected by the Senior Troop are: Susan Goforth and Ava Spearman, patrol leaders; Connie Phifer and Belinda Stroupe, assistant patrol leaders; Susan Pite, historian; Linda Falls and Ann Baird, hostesses; Ann Hunter Plonk, treasurer; Jane Yates and Suzanne Amos, troop representative to club. Both lunch and evening meal will be served in the club dining room.

Trick-Or-Treat Goblins Enjoy Harlequin Cake

Small goblins get hungry on Halloween after an evening of haunting houses, ringing doorbells and playing "Trick or Treat."

Why not serve them a Halloween Harlequin Cake as an extra-special treat at an end-of-the-evening party?

It is made by cutting into squares one Merita Coconut and one Merita German Chocolate Cake, both products of American Bakeries Company. These are joined together with a fudge frosting mix to form one large, flat cake. Alternate chocolate and banana pieces lie side by side, checkerboard fashion, as pictured above. The cake is garnished with the traditional candy corn.

Though Halloween is eery, it needn't be weary with a quick treat recipe such as this.

HALLOWEEN HARLEQUIN CAKE

- 1 small package (7 1/2 oz.) fudge frosting mix
- 1 Merita Coconut Cake
- 1 Merita German Chocolate Cake
- Candy Corn
- 1. Prepare frosting as package directs.
- 2. Cut each cake in to 6 squares. Spread frosting on cut edges of pieces of cakes. Put cake squares together to form one large cake; alternate chocolate and coconut pieces, checkerboard fashion.
- 3. Pipe remaining frosting pastry tube, outlining cake pieces. Garnish with Candy Corn.
- 4. Sprinkle each piece with nuts.

Makes 12 servings.
