Tight Cash

When the prime interest rate—that charged a bank's most affluent borrowers-goes to seven percent that's news.

It's the highest prime rate in a century, pointing up the fact of the Federal Reserve Bank's increase in the discount rate, that charged banks who, borrowers, too, get cash from the Federal Reserve to lend to customers.

The views are mixed on whether tight money is good or bad for the coun-

Traders sold stocks heavily pushing the stock prices down. Gold remains in heavy demand in foreign nations where trading in gold is permitted. United States Treasury bonds plunged in price with better returns elsewhere.

The Federal Reserve apparently takes the views that the twin problems of rising prices and increasing totals of both short and long-term debt need to be slowed. Tight or high-cost money is supposed to do the job.

On whether tight money is good or bad, it may be presumed that it is good for the guy with it, less good for the guy without it.

Good Service

Congratulations to Holmes Harry for his effective service on the Kings Mountain board of education, dating from area consolidation in July 1961.

During that period were some trying times and difficult decisions.

Effecting of area consolidation itself was difficult with especially crowded conditions until the new high school plant was built. The 1964 civil rights act added to the fun.

But the business has been managed here with a minimum of pain and Mr. Harry deserves his full share of honor

He was particularly proud, he said at a football game in the new John Gamble Stadium, that Kings Mountain now boasted the only stadium in the conference with rest rooms on the visitor's as well as home side of the stands.

"It cost $8,000." he said, "but it's

MARTIN'S MEDICINE

By MARTIN HARMON

It was my pleasure to cover Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Cleveland Organization of Government Officials executive committee. The food was good as I have always found it at Ho-tel Charles dining room, my neighbors interesting conversa-tionalists, and the Shelby parking meter man generous.

To begin with last first, Mayor John Henry Moss and I were headed for the car and I looked up to see that I was going to owe the City of Shelby a quarter. John teased, "Want me to try to use my influence?" No, I replied, I've over-parked and owe the quarter. But as I reached for the ticket to insert the quarter the officer took it back, you made it back in time.'
