Bloodmobile Visit Here Nets 81 Pints

The Red Cross Bloodmobile made a community visit to Kings Mountain on Monday, August 18. Donors were received at Central United Methodist church in downtown Kings Mountain. A total of 81 citizens offered their blood, of which 68 were accepted and 13 rejected for various health reasons. Among the donors were three first time donors and there were also 38 specific replacements for previous blood used. Of special interest was the collection of specific blood for an open heart surgery case which was to be performed at Memorial Hospital in Charlotte later this week. This specific blood was rushed to Charlotte before Monday noon in order to be processed for the open heart surgery patient.

Two gallon contributor on this visit was Robert E. Morris of Kings Mountain. Three donors reached the one gallon level on this visit. They were Jack Eaker, Donald D. Jones and Fred Withers.

Red Cross officials stressed that

Fire Damages Goody-Goody

Goody-Goody Barbecue was damaged by fire Wednesday morning about 6 a.m. Estimated loss was being determined by insurance adjustors yesterday afternoon.

Other survivors include two sisters, Penny Ann and Jerri Lynn, both of the home; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Helen Helton of Morristown, Tenn., and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mamie Whitley of Kings Mountain.

The fire, of undetermined origin, damaged extensively the east end of the building on Shelby road, the roof and ceiling. Mrs. Marshal Heavner, owner, said the building was also smoke damaged.

Kings Mountain firemen answered the call and fought the blaze for about an hour.
