HEARING AID ... Time was, y to raise your voice to make yourself the telephone. But not any more. Tod like a bad connection is very often telephone usage.

If you're holding the mouthinice under y for instance, it won't pick up as much of w say. And the person at the other end may you clearly.

There's a simple solution. Just be sur the mouthpiece directly in front of you inch or two away.

EMERGENCY AID ... A lone operato EMERGENCY AID... A lone operator in the local telephone office, when the siren sounded at 2:30 a.m. Off-duty operators, hearing the siren, knew from expe-rience that she'd be swamp-ed with calls from alarmed townspeople. So, within minutes they were trooping into the office—hair in curl-ers, coats thrown hastily over nightgowns and pa-jamas. jamas.

In the face of emergency, fashion was forgotten. Sector positions at the sw were being served b who looked far dis their usual stylish
