Nature Heals Tree Damage

Tree stands may look a mess following the ice storms that invariably hit some sections of North Carolina each winter, but the damage won't appear nearly as great once the growing season returns. Nature will provide the healing touch.

This is the word of comfort to Tar Heel lovers from Fred Whitfield, N. C. State University extension forester.

The extension specialist said Nature will heal all but the her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sheppard from Bostic, for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloan Wright from Granite Falls, S. C. visited Mrs. J. M. Wright and Marguerite on Sunday.

The Golden Circle of David's Baptist Church met Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Fellowship Hall with Mrs. Joyce Babb as hostess.

most serious damage. "Trees have a remarkable ability to recover from damage such as that inflicted by ice. They will look much better when spring arrives and they begin to grow again," Whitfield said.

Some of the most serious damage from ice comes in the form of trees severely bent over from the extra weight, trees that don't bend but give way at the roots and topple over, and those which have their tops broken out.

"Small saplings or young pole-size trees may or may not erect themselves," Whitfield said. "It may be necessary to help them a little. If so, they should be pulled back up gradually. Don't try to straighten them too quickly."

Even rootsprung trees can be salvaged. It probably will be necessary to remove dirt from the sprung roots before pulling the tree erect.

As for topped trees, Whitfield commented, "Some people apparently are under the impression that trees that have lost their tops, particularly pine trees, are done for and may as well be cut down. This isn't necessarily so. We have plenty of trees that lost their tops during Hazel (1954 hurricane) that are still growing." He added that, if the tree is large and severely damaged, the services of a reputable tree surgeon may be required.

He suggested that, if the tree is small—15 to 20 feet high or three or four inches in diameter—perhaps "it should be left alone."

Another suggestion: "Cut broken limbs of hardwoods back to the nearest larger limb or trunk and treat with a tree paint or wound compound. Don't cut off ends of limbs. Cut them off flush with the larger limb or trunk."

Whitfield also warned of the danger of falling broken limbs. "They should be removed," he said.

And one blanket suggestion: All damaged trees will recover more rapidly if they are fertilized. Whitfield suggested using a high nitrogen fertilizer — a 16-8-8 analysis or equivalent — at the rate of two pounds per inch of diameter. A 10-inch tree would receive 20 pounds of 16-8-8, for example.

The fertilizer should be placed in small holes 12 to 14 inches deep, beginning several feet from the trunk and extending to just beyond the drip line (just beyond limb spread).

Wallpaper Cinderella Of Decorations

RALEIGH — Modern technology has transformed wallpaper from the dreary stepister to the Cinderella of the decorating world.

Washable, Waterproof, Pre-pasted. These are the characteristics of many of today's wallpapers that make for ease of installation and care.

Bold geometric patterns, dazzling stripes, enchanting florals and abstract designs are the news in modern wallpapers, notes Mrs. Edith McGlamery, extension house furnishings specialist, North Carolina State University. But if you prefer the quiet tones or practical scenes, these too are available.

To spruce up your kitchen or hallway, or to add an accent to any room, consider wallpaper, the specialist advises.

The new "wet look" papers, which resemble shiny patent leather, or foils, will add polish to any room.

Your bath or powder room can come alive when papered with one of the many washable, waterproof vinyls you'll find in the sample books. Even the elegant look of flocked wallpaper is now available for use in bathrooms.

And here's an inexpensive idea that will give a custom look to a neglected area of your house: wallpaper the insides of your closets. It's easy when you use pre-pasted or strippable papers. A stripe or geometric pattern will give an air of neatness and order to any closet, the specialist observes.

Herald Sets New Picture Policy

The Herald is setting a new policy on pictures to be published in the future and seeks the cooperation of its readers and customers in making the change.

Beginning next week, only black and white photographs will be accepted since only poor reproduction can be expected from colored photographs.

For birthday pictures and other single-column pictures, only wallet-size (2x3) photographs will be accepted, and for brides and brides-elect, 5x7 pictures are requested.

Also, all brides pictures and birthday pictures must be in the Herald office no later than Monday for inclusion in that week's edition.

The new rules have been necessitated since a change has been made in engraving companies serving the Herald. We hope you will not ask us to make exceptions and will request the proper sizes when ordering from your photographer.
