Book Review Features Program Of Book Club

The Thursday Afternoon Book Club met February 25, at the home of Mrs. Jacob Cooper on Piedmont Avenue with Mrs. E. W. Neal serving as hostess.

Mrs. Fred Finger, program chairman, presented Mrs. E. W. Neal, speaker. Mrs. Neal reviewed the book, "Golden Meir" by Agnes noting that Mrs. Meir is an individual with a purpose dedicated to the Jewish people and, in a very real sense, a second Moses leading her nation to freedom and independence.

Mrs. Meir was born in the Soviet Union, educated in the United States and went as a bride to Palestine where she became involved in the cause of the common man, it was stated. Being objective and fearless, she never shrinks her responsibility when injustices come to her attention or when the lives of her people hang in the balance.

Her crowning honor is serving Israel as prime minister. Mrs. Neal further noted. The Jewish people feel she is the only one who can lead their nation to a greater future.

Mrs. George Thomasson, president, presided over a short business session at which time she welcomed into the club two new members, Miss Alice Averitt and Miss Eva Plonk.

At refreshment time, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Cooper, served a salad course and dessert with coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Anthony of Kings Mountain.

A birthday party for Bobbie Jo Anthony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony R. Anthony, was held on January 30th in Milldenall, England.

Children of Air Force personnel who are neighbors of the Sgt. and Mrs. Anthony, were present.

Bobbie Jo cut a pink and white birthday cake. The cake was cut and served with ice cream.

Bobbie Jo is granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Martin of Kings Mountain and the late Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Anthony of Kings Mountain.

John Edward Rosenblatt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rosenblatt of Charlotte, celebrated his third birthday Tuesday, March 2.

A birthday party for 16 children was held at the Church of the Holy Comforter Nursery School which he attends two mornings each week. A decorated birthday cake was cut and served with party refreshments.

Young Rosenblatt is grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barnett of Kings Mountain and Mrs. Edward Rosenblatt of Charlotte and the late Mr. Rosenblatt.

Young Rosenblatt's mother is the former Kay Barnett of Kings Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Harmon spent the weekend in Tallulah Falls, Ga. visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Gaines, mother and stepfather of Mr. Harmon.

COMINGS AND GOINGS

Miss Debbie Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson of Durham was eight years old on February 12. She celebrated her birthday with a party at The Forest Hills Club House on February 13.

Thirty of Debbie's friends attended. Games were played and several dance contests were held. The children were served punch, nuts, candy, and birthday cake. The cake was decorated with angels and roses.

Assisting with the party was Miss Eva Lee Smith of Durham, and Debbie's third grade teacher, Miss Ferguson, who is in the United States for one year of study. Miss Ferguson is from Scotland.

Debbie's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Owens of Kings Mountain and her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson of Four Oaks, North Carolina. Debbie's mother is the former Louise Owens.
