Bridges, Parker, Roberts File For City Commission

Now Four-Man Race in Ward 5 For Commission

Three more candidates entered the political arena this week creating a four-man race for Ward 5 commissioner.

The new candidates joining Kelly Dixon and Howard Shipp in Ward 5 are Jonas Bridges, manager of Radio Station WKMT, and Charles W. Parker, who resides at 704 Landing St. Kenneth Roberts filed for Ward 4 commissioner to challenge incumbent Norman King. Still unchallenged are Ray W. Cline, Ward 1 commissioner, W. S. (Seimore) Biddix, Ward 2 commissioner, Jim Dickey, Ward 6 commissioner, and P. A. Francis, outside-city candidate for election to the board of education.

Mr. Roberts is a partner with his father in Roberts Cash Grocery, is current president of KM Jaycees, and is a member of Kings Mountain Baptist church. He served as an army paratrooper from 1957-59. Mrs. Roberts is the former Phyllis Henderson. They have two children, a boy and a girl.

Jonas Bridges came to Kings Mountain 18 years ago as manager of Radio Station WKMT. Previously, he had served in the Army during the Korean Conflict and worked for a Columbia, S. C. television station.

A native of Boiling Springs and graduate of Gardner-Webb college, he is son of Mrs. Robert Bridges and the late Mr. Bridges. He is a past president of Kings Mountain Lions club, the Kings Mountain Chamber of Commerce, and served two terms as president of the Kings Mountain Merchants Association. He is a member of First Baptist church.

Mrs. Bridges is the former Doris Summerlin of Clover, S. C. They are parents of two children, Robbie, 14, and Paula, age seven, and reside at 803 West Mountain street.

In his filing statement, Mr. Bridges said: "I love Kings Mountain. They've been good to me. My only reason for filing is that I'm trying to practice what I preach daily on radio when I invite citizens to take active interest in city government and am offering in that capacity, I have no ulterior motives and no ax to grind. I am for continued progress of Kings Mountain."

(Mr. Parker is an employee of Carolina Throwing Company. He is a navy veteran and member of Piedmont Baptist church.)

The candidates to date:

Mayor — Incumbent John Henry Moss and Robert G. Cox, Ward 1 commissioner — Ray W. Cline, incumbent.

Ward 2 commissioner — W. S. (Seimore) Biddix, incumbent.

Ward 3 commissioner — Incumbent T. J. Ellison and William Hamrick.

Ward 4 commissioner — In-

CANDIDATE — Jonas Bridges, manager of Radio Station WKMT, filed his filing fee Wednesday afternoon as a candidate for Ward 5 commissioner.

Plonk Rezoning Request Tabled

The city commission approved two requests for rezoning and tabled a third "for further study" Tuesday night.

Opposition was voiced by adjacent property owners to rezoning of 6.29 acres of land in Crescent Hill where Hal S. and Fred W. Plonk want to build 20 luxury apartments. C. B. Cash of Shalby would be building the townhouse apartments of one, two and three bedrooms ranging in rent from $130 to $150 per month. The complex, with 20 more apartments to be added later, would include a swimming pool and putting green.

George Thomason, representing property owners opposing the rezoning, said landowners with combined holdings of 91 acres in the area are opposed to the apartments being built there because "this would create a traffic problem and would decrease the value of property already there."

Bob Bradley, representing 82 property owners favoring the rezoning, said, "Kings Mountain is a growing community and needs some type of luxury apartments. I see no reason why adjoining land would be devalued," he said.

Both attorneys presented petitions favoring or opposing the rezoning.

The zoning board had recommended approval of the rezoning.

On motion by Mrs. O. O. Walker, seconded by W. S. Biddix, the board voted to table the request for further study.

Ward VI Comm. Jim Dickey asked Mayor John Moss if a committee should be appointed to study the matter and report findings to the board. The mayor said he "would be happy to do so if a motion was made by the commission." There was no motion.

On the other zoning matters, no opposition was voiced.

46 New Voters Are Logged By Registrars

Forty-six new names were added to the city's pollbooks Saturday, first of three registration days for the May 11th municipal and school board elections.

Registrars will be at the polling places again this Saturday and on Saturday, April 25th to register new voters or to inscribe transfers.

Most activity Saturday was reported by George Hord, registrar in Ward V, who reported 19 names of new voters and one transfer.

Next busiest places were in Ward III where Mrs. Ruth Bowens added eight new voters to the book and recorded three transfers and in Ward IV where Brooks Tate added five names and made one transfer.

R. D. Goforth, Ward II registrar, added five new names and recorded one transfer.

Mrs. Guy Trout, Ward VI registrar, added six new names to the pollbooks, including her own and her husband's, and Ward I registrar C. L. Black reported three transfers.

Traffic Control Survey Approved

The city commission Tuesday night approved, after recommendation of Comm. W. S. Biddix, chairman, that a preliminary traffic flow and safety survey made of the city be submitted to the State Highway Commission for advanced planning and approval.

Recommendations, all approved, by the Biddix-chaired committee were:

1) temporary no parking signs will be installed on Waterson street from King to Waco road until Cansler street is open to traffic again.

2) installation of a temporary traffic light at the intersection of Piedmont and Waco roads.

3) installation of 35 miles per hour signs on Cansler street.

4) checking of lighting on the overhead bridge on U. S. 74 west and install lights if need be.

5) request the Highway Commission to install grass and storm drains on Highway 74 west.

6) refer a petition supporting a highway 74 bypass of Kings Mountain to Roy DeGamon, of the State Highway Commission.

7) install automatic gates at railroad crossings on Mountain

Wilco Truck Rental Firm To Build Here

By MARTIN HARMON
Wilco Truck Rental, home-based at Nashville, Tenn., will build a terminal on Charles street, Dexter Cooper announced at City Hall Wednesday.

Wilco leases tractors and trailers to industries, has 11 tractors and 40 on lease to Kings Mountain firms now.

The firm has purchased a three-acre tract fronting on Charles street and Interstate 85.

The building, to measure 78 x 70 feet, is expected to cost $100,000. It will be of metal construction, with a drive-through wash bay, two drive-through mechanical departments, and a third section including offices, parts department, driver's room, and a fire storage room and rest room facilities.

Mr. Cooper says the Wilco company owns 2000 pieces of equipment. District manager is Robert L. Allin, of Charlotte.

Forty To Attend Art Seminar

Forty teachers from Kings Mountain Schools will attend an Art Workshop on April 19, 20, and 21, 1971, at the West Elementary School. It was announced recently by Donald D. Jones, Superintendent of Schools.

A free educational service provided by Binney & Smith, Inc., manufacturers of CRAYOLA crayons and other school art supplies, the Workshop will be conducted by Mrs. Jane Callaway, who has taught extensively and holds a Master's degree from Columbia University.

The teachers will spend fifteen hours of their own time learning about modern creative art education and some of its materials and tools. They will learn by doing, rolling up their sleeves and trying out the techniques presented by Mrs. Callaway.

These techniques will include some of the uses of crayons, water colors, poster paints, finger paints, colored chalks, and modeling clay. Simple craft techniques will also be shown, giving teachers an opportunity to work with paper, paste and other materials to gain three-dimensional effects. All of the Art Workshop activities will be experiences which the teachers can relate to their own classroom teaching.

School officials responsible for the Workshop arrangements, in addition to Superintendent Jones, include Howard Bryant, Director of Instruction.

In addition to the 15 hour workshop the teachers are also planning to have a curriculum study of art at 3:45 on the afternoon of April 26 at Kings Mountain High School. Mrs. Marguerite Powell and Mrs. Suzanne Wise will lead this study.

Phifer Property Resale Thursday

Resale of the Martin Phifer property is scheduled for Thursday.

Present high bid is that of Hubert, Richard, William and James McGinnis at $69,560 for the 131.6-acre tract.

The property is adjacent to Kings Mountain high school.

Lake Recreation Policy Reversed

Board Approves Fishing, Boating, Other Sports

The city commission, on recommendation of Mayor John Henry Moss, Tuesday night unanimously adopted a resolution approving recreation on the Kings Mountain Lake on Buffalo Creek.

The mayor commented: "With the lake project 90-plus percent complete, it is time to implement a program to utilize this most important project." He said the policy would insure the complete development of the Kings Mountain water project.

The resolution, as adopted, reads:

1) Plan total utilization of the finished water supply to serve and bring the full benefits to the citizens of Kings Mountain.

2) Develop the Kings Mountain water reservoir as a beautiful and exciting recreation area as permitted by the North Carolina Department of Water and Air Resources and North Carolina State Board of Health under the complete control of the city government of Kings Mountain working with a Kings Mountain Lake Commission with membership to be made up of Kings Mountain citizens.

The board also, on recommendation of Chairman Norman King, commissioner from Ward IV, entered into agreement with the N. C. Wildlife Commission, Division

Sewage System Long Range Plans

City Commissioner Jim Dickey, chairman of the sewer committee, called attention this week to long range plans for sewage system improvements covering three phases and through 1980.

Comm. Dickey referred to a letter from W. H. Mull, area representative for the Air and Water Resources commission, in which Mr. Mull drew from the W. K. Dickson engineering report of January 11 and said the city should watch its daily effluent of sewage into the Pilot Branch plant and expand it before full capacity is reached.

The Dickson plan calls for increasing the capacity of the Pilot Branch plant during the first phase, or not later than 1972. Col. Dickson recommends increasing the capacity from two to three million gallons daily and estimated cost at $195,000. Other first phase recommendations are for interceptor lines on Cansler street and to divert Craftsman Yarns effluent from the McGill plant to Pilot branch. Cost estimates respectively are $111,600 and $158,350.

Second phase 1973-76 is largely residential line laying to serve developing areas.

Third phase calls for construction of a treatment plant on Kings Creek between 1976-80.

Engineer To Submit Preliminary On McGill Plant Industrial Waste

The city commission Tuesday night adopted recommendation from Comm. James Dickey, chairman of the sewer committee, authorizing W. K. Dickson & Company to submit preliminary plans to the State Air and Water Resources Commission on industrial waste treatment at the McGill treatment plant.

This plan was projected by Mr. Dickey as the Cansler Street and

Firm Textures, Dyes Filament; To Employ 175

By MARTIN HARMON

Spectrum Textured Products, Inc., officials announced here Wednesday they will build a $6 to $8 million plant on a 40-acre site the firm has optioned from H. O. Williams on SR 2034.

The company officials here were Bishop F. Smith, Jr., president, and John D. Karcher, executive vice-president. They are the owners along with International Stretch Products, Inc.

President Smith said the firm will texture and dye synthetic filament yarns for sale to the circular knit, warp knit and weaving trades.

The firm expects to go into production in the fall quarter and expects to employ 175 persons, about 70 percent of them women. They expect to begin hiring employees in June or July. Mr. Karcher said wage rates would average about $2.20 per hour.

Kings Mountain was chosen as by far the best location after "we did a lot of looking", Mr. Smith continued, pointing out that Kings Mountain was chosen because of the enthusiasm of the mayor and members of the industrial committee, because of skilled labor in the area, and proximity of Kings Mountain to the firm's customers. Other cities in contention were Wadesboro, Tarboro, Reidsville and Asheville.

"We mean to be community-oriented," Mr. Karcher declared. He said textured yarns which go into double knit fabrics now has an estimated 60 percent of the market.

Competitors in the field include Burlington Industries and Olympia of Spartanburg, S. C.

"But our real competitors are the Japanese," Mr. Smith declared, and offered a plea that some limits can be placed to these imports.

"We are a growing industry," he commented, pointing out that the market for these goods in men's clothing will burgeon within the next few years.

First stage plans call for the installation of ABCT texturing and Gaston County Dyeing equipment. Production will begin during third quarter 1971. Initial annual production capacity will be 10,000,000 pounds.

Second stage plans call for doubling yarn dyeing capacity and construction of a piece dyeing plant along with additional auxiliary equipment by mid-1972.

Manufacturing facilities and offices of Spectrum Textured Fibres, Inc. will be located in Kings Mountain, North Carolina. Executive and sales offices will be located in New York City.

Stamey To Lead Baptist Series

Rev. James Stamey, pastor of Shelby's Elizabeth Baptist church, will be evangelist for revival services beginning Sunday and continuing through April 21 at Kings Mountain Baptist church.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m.

Wayne Bryant, music director in Highland and South Gastonia schools, will direct the song service.

Rev. James M. Wilder, pastor, issued an invitation to the community to worship in the series of services. Mr. Wilder said the special services will open with observance of the Lord's Supper at the 11 a.m. hour Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Stamey has served the Shelby church since February 1967. He was educated in the Lincoln schools, Gardner Webb and Carson Newman colleges and Southern Baptist Seminary. He has served as moderator of Owen County Baptist Association, Kings Mountain Baptist Association and as president of the Pastor's Conference of the Kings Mountain Baptist Association. He served churches in Tennessee and Kentucky before coming to Shelby in 1957 as pastor.
