Cash Crop

North Carolina is in the midst of June Dairy Month in which the dairy industry is calling attention to its activities and to the part it plays in the state's economic well being.

The North Carolina Dairy Industry can point with considerable pride to its rapid growth.

Milk has been a great boon to North Carolina. Milk and other dairy products have meant for many farm families here and throughout the state a cash crop, replacing a once-a-year cash crop, like cotton, which could make a farmer rich one season and near broke the next year.

Dairying still offers a cash crop opportunity to this area's farmer.

Although the number of dairy farms has decreased during the past several years, Cleveland County boasts 41 Grade A producers and 75 farmers selling manufacturing milk. These Grade A dairies are milking over 2800 cows. A total milk production of 34,026,340 pounds of milk and a total gross sales of $2,289,972 was realized by area dairymen in 1970.

Some facts we learned at the annual June Dairy Month breakfast kick-off at Charles Hotel Tuesday morning: All our Grade A farms use milking machines

Over 30 of our dairymen have elevated milking parlors.
Some 35 dairies use pipeline equipment.

About one-fourth of our dairies have converted to free-stall housing.

All dairy farms are equipped for handling silage, either upright or horizontal.

Most upright silos have silo unloaders.

There are 21 herds on the DHIA program and 1524 cows.

Average milk production per cow on DHIA figures 12,799 pounds of milk—that's 1488 gallons or 5952 quarts of milk for the average cow in Cleveland County each year.

One Cleveland County cow will produce 23,808 glasses of milk each year. That is enough milk to supply 16 boys and girls with four glasses of milk for 365 days.

It isn't too late to clean-up, paint-up, fix up and participate in the annual community-wide clean-up campaign.

Commission B. E. (Pop) Simmons said it last week:

The local sales tax seemed the only alternative to a considerably higher property tax levy in Cleveland County and the only recourse for the county for additional money it needs to build a law enforcement center and other county services.

Attend the Little Theatre performances of the comedy, "Everybody Loves Opal", Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:15 p.m. at Park Grace school auditorium. Tickets are $1, can be purchased from any member, at the Chamber of Commerce office or at the door.

Local Little Theatre members are to be commended for the work they have done in revitalizing and rejuvenating the Little Theatre. Their hard work is even more evidenced by the good entertainment they produce. They're in a new home, too, at Park Grace school and officers are inviting the community to "come see us."

Congratulations to Sara Hendrick Sinal, M.D., who graduated from the University of North Carolina School of Medicine last week.

No Difference

Scoutmaster Otis Falls' message to his young Scouts of St. Matthew's Lutheran church seems most appropriate at this season of the year when graduates are being congratulated and encouraged.

He said:

"On May 14 Mr. Tom Trott and I took a trip. Many things that day pointed to me and asked if I could pass these things on to my Scouts.

"The reason for our trip was twofold. We wanted to try and console or cheer up some good friends who had lost their son and brother. Also, we wanted to assure ourselves that our friends themselves were all right. Mr. Andrew Teszler, age 40, founder of Olympia Knitting Mills, Spartanburg, S. C., has just recently left this life and it was his father, Mr. Sandor Teszler and his brother Otto Teszler whom Mr. Trott and I were visiting. Mr. Andrew Teszler had been a benefactor of Catholics, Jews and Protestants on personal levels and on institutional levels. I asked Mr. Sandor Teszler about Andrew's willingness to cross lines of religious faith, creed and background to help someone. He said of his son, "He did not know a difference, he did not know Protestant or Jew, he did not know black man or white man, he did not know any man from any other man. He respected everyone for his own value. I taught him this when he was little. He didn't know a difference in people."

"As Mr. Teszler gave the credit to his son, he let the word "taught" slip in.

"We have an integrated Scout Troop and until today no mention of this has ever been made. We do not want to know a difference in people. You have been "taught" to help everyone.

We have had the poorest of boys teaching Kings Mountain's richest, we had Kings Mountain's richest teaching all the others. There has been no difference here."

"As I read newspaper emphasis on teaching...

Letter To Editor

Dear Sir,
In these moments of uncertainty in which we live seemingly man is reaching for the stars to obtain the material things of life. Not giving any thought what so-ever that man was placed here as a care-taker of this world in which he lives. Since the time man was formed from the dust of the earth, and God breathed into man that He created and man became a living soul, man continues to search to the utmost heights and depths of the planet in which he lives. Not

Now all your U.S. Savings Bonds pay higher interest.

Now it's official. Now one of the safest investments in the world brings you new and higher returns. Now your U.S. Savings Bonds pay the highest interest in history: a full 5 per cent when held to maturity of 5 years and 10 months. (4% the first year; 5.20% thereafter to maturity.) Previously, these Bonds earned you only 4 1/4% if you held them for seven years. The new interest began June 1, 1969. So all of the Bonds you own, no matter when you bought them, have been collecting higher interest since that time. Those Bonds are still replaced if lost, stolen or burned. You can still buy them through Payroll Savings or the Bond-a-Month plan. Regardless of your other investments, can you think of any easier, better, or safer way to build a nest egg for yourself? It's nice to know that you are doing a little something for Uncle Sam, too. The $52 billion in U.S. Savings Bonds now outstanding in the hands of millions of Americans go a long way toward keeping your country financially strong. There never was a better time to take stock in America. There's a man at the place where you work who can start you on the Payroll Savings Plan right now.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America. With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.
