Hetty Rodes Cox, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert G. Cox of Kings Mountain, will be among the 115 debutantes from 26 towns and cities who will make their formal debut at the Shelby Junior Charity League's 27th annual debutante ball June 3 in Shelby City Park Auditorium.

Invitations are issued each year to a select group of young women who are members of a senior class. Date of the ball is scheduled each year on the weekend following one of the most significant weeks in their lives in which they have been awarded high school diplomas.

Shedding their caps and gowns for the party dresses and social whirls, the young debs and their escorts begin a round of events prior to the ball which leads to the formal presentation on Saturday night, June 3. Each debutante wears a long white formal gown, long white gloves and carries a bouquet of red roses.

Following the presentation, debutantes and their escorts in black tails, will form a figure to music by Loonis McGlohon. Ballroom dancing will be enjoyed by all until midnight.

The Debutante Ball is anticipated by young ladies of high school graduating age throughout Western North Carolina as the highlight of a glamorous social season.

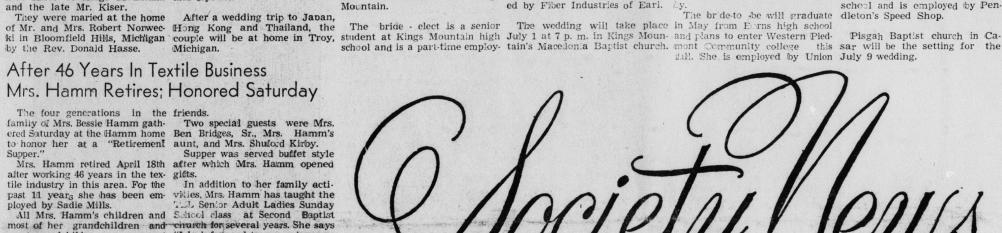

Jeffrey Wayne Bolin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bolin, celebrated his second birthday April 22nd.
