Weekly Health Tip

By WILSON GRIFFIN

If Junior's front tooth is knocked out, it should be reinserted in its socket as quickly as possible advises Dr. Harold Maxmen, a Michigan dental specialist. This first-aid treatment will improve the chances of retaining the tooth, he reports. The tooth should be put in by the youngster himself, if necessary — and as quickly as possible to protect pulp tissues of the tooth from infection. Such prompt action can usually save the tooth. Naturally, the dentist should be visited immediately.
