18-Year-Old Beauty From Kinston Wins State Beauty Pageant On Saturday Night

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — Smiling through her tears, Miss Constance Anne Dorn was crowned Miss North Carolina here before a crowd estimated in excess of 2,600 at Owens Auditorium.

The 18 year-old beauty from Kinston, N. C. received her crown from last year's winner, Miss Patsy Wood. She also was presented a $1,000 scholarship during the ceremony.

First runner-up was Miss Barbara Aletha Ballew, Miss Wake County. The other finalists included 2nd runner up, Marcia Patrice Burton, Miss Hickory, Susan Gayle Moore, Miss Winston-Salem and Angela Jean Cook, Miss Caldwell County.

"Miss Kings Mountain," Debbie Timms, 29, participated in the pageant.

The two hour spectacular was televised statewide this year to an audience estimated at two million by Sherrill Capps, Executive Director of the Pageant.

"We thought the talent this year was unusually good," Capps commented, "and, of course, all the girls were just lovely."

The winner performed a ballet to the tune of "La Grande Holiday," but the highlight of the evening was a production number in which Colonel Harland Sanders, the spry 81 year-old founder of Kentucky Fried Chicken and honorary chairman of the pageant, walked on the stage and said, "I may be an old rooster myself, but I still know good chicks when I see them. Let's go to Kentucky."

Special awards were presented to Miss Mocksville, Debbie Bingham, and Miss Statesville, Bobbie Jo Morrow, who tied for Miss Congeniality as selected by the other contestants, Corky McBrayer, Miss Hendersonville, was chosen as most talented non-finalist by the judges.

"Connie is a beautiful and talented young lady who stands a great chance of winning the Miss America title," last years queen, Miss Patsy Wood commented.

TARHEEL KITCHEN

By MISS YORK KIKER
Department of Agriculture - Marketing Home Economist

When you think of beef your mouth probably begins watering as you can almost taste a juicy T-bone steak. We are prone to forget that only small portion of beef is cut into steaks.

A recent "Beefiesta" was attended and the story of beef from "range to range" was told. It was enough to make ones head swim to follow the involved process of cattle from the farm through the feeding process and finally to the family table. A film helped to explain the amazing story. A meat cutting demonstration of a side of beef was an eye-opener. The audience was informed that there is approximately a 63% cut out from a beef carcass or in other words 630 pounds of meat from 1,000 pounds of beef. The grocer loses about 25% in bones and trimmings.

There is far more work behind the scenes than one ever imagines when a visit is made to the meat counter. In addition to the production story there was an opportunity to sample new ways of serving beef as appetizers and other than in the main course. Miss Reba Staggs of the National Live-Stock and Meat Board shared her recipes which you might enjoy as much as we did.

BEEF SAUSAGE STACKS
