White Has Third Straight Unbeaten Football Season

Short cuts from the world of sports: Jimmy Kimmell, believed to be Kings Mountain High's first all-state football player, had his sad and happy moments this year after taking over as head football coach at Chester (S. C.) High School. Early in the season, one of Kimmell's players died of a heart attack. Record-wise, though, the season was highly successful as Kimmell'e charges finished 6-5 in 4-A warfare. The year before, Chester won only one game.

Mike Ware, who took over as head coach at Newberry High School when Kimmell left that school, saw his club break even this year with a 5-5-1 record. . . Otis Cole, for-mer KMris basketball All-American, will be playing at the point position benind Otto Perry this year at Florida State. The Seminoles have recruited several junior college exercise and schoold be in the running for the national players and should be in the running for the national nampionship again.

Richard White, former athletic standout at KMHS, enjoyed his third straight undefeated season this year at The porsville Junior High School. White's Rams finished win a 0-0 mark and won the Alexander County elemen-tary school title'. Wake Forest has found the winning formula in football. Last week, the Winston-Salem school told coach 'Tom Harper he was through after this year and the Deacons went out and upset Duke 9-7.

Don't say Press Maravich, Appalachian State's new basketball boss, doesn't have guts. He'll open his first scason at the Boone school by sending his Mountaineers against N. C. State on Nov. 2/ at Raleigh. With 7-4 Tom-my Burleson and sophomore sensation David Thompson in Burleson and sophomore sensation David Thompson in the same lineup, N. C. State might have to play with two basketballs this year. Both love to score points.

North Carolina's freshman football team this year hasn't been as sensational as some of UNC's most recent teams, but Coach Charlie Carr's Tar Babies kept alive a long record last Saturday when they edged Duke's jay-vers 15-7. It marked the 12th straight time the Tar Babies bave defeated Duke's freshman-junior varsity team. The North Carolina's freshman football team this year have defeated Duke's freshman-junior varsity team. The Tar Bables are now 2-2-1 under first year-coach Carr.

Before the season began, N. C. State followers said the Pack was in dire need of a quarterback. But, heading into the final game, Bruce Shaw is now the owner of five Froneberger. who'll get his State records: 294 yards passing against Wake Forest; 1,632 yards passing for the year; 1,680 yards total offense; nine touchdown passes in a season; and the longest touch-down pass, a 98-yarder to Pat Kenney in last week's 37-22 loss to nationally ranked Penn State.

Who would get your vote as coach of the year in the ACC? It has to be either UNC's Bill Dooley, whose club has lost but one game and has the ACC title under lock and key, or N. C. State's first year mentor Lou Holtz, who took a loser and turned them into a title contender and key of R. C. State's finite juinto a title contender... improve, we might be able to took a loser and turned them into a title contender... hold our own against some of And, how about coach of the year in the Southwestern these other teams." Conference? My vote would have to go to Steve Curtis of Burns, who took the worst football team in North Carolina and made them into a contender. But look for the award to go to Shelby's Gerald Allen. In high school, coach of 17—At West Lincoln (scrimthe year honors seem to always go to the coach of the mage). championship team.

-Haggard USC's Top Scorer Want a pre-season favorite for next year's Southwest-ern Conference football race? South Point's Red Raiders lost only four players off this year's squad which finished 8-2-1, both losses coming to undefeated Shelby...Appa-lachian's football team shows a 5-4-1 overall record going into its final game, but the Mountaineers finished 0.4-1 in their first season in the Southern Conference. Only a 10-10 tie with Davidson kept the Mounties from losing every game. . . . .

Froneberger Working With Many New Faces

Kings Mountain High's girls basketball season might not be a tota! loss but you'd have to classify this as a rebuilding year for veteran Coach Blaine Froneberger.

Frone erger has only one starter back from last year's team which finished 18-4 and ad-vanced to the Western N. C. Activities Association finals. That one returnee, however, is probably the top player in the Southwest-ern Conference, Deborah Crockett.

Coach Froneberger lost several outstanding players off last year's team, including All-Conference standouts Biane Cornwell and Carolyn Mitchem. The only re-turneees th's year, besides Crockett, are Karen and Kathy Led-ford and Ann Hambright, all reserves.

Newcomers seeling a starting berth on the Mountainette squad include freshmen Joanne Proctor and Felicia Falls, Myra Mc-Ginnis, Sandra Bvers, Cissy Smith and Diane Rhodes.

Froneberger says the key to the Mountainette attack will be how well the new players can get the ball to Crockett.

"In twi he our gest prob-lem," says Froneberger, "Crock-ett will e double-teamed and triple-teamed and these new girls are colored to the second gir's are going to have to take up the slack.'

Karen Ledford will be the sure off Crockett. "We still need a lot of work, both on offense and defense," states Fromeberger. "Our season will demond a great deal on what Crockett does." Froneberger, who'll get his first good lock at his gris Fri-day when they scrimmare West Lincoln on the road, tags South Point, Shelby and Burns as the teams to teat. "When I took over as head oach three years ago," he notd, "I figured it would take out three years to get our proram going. I feel like we can be onten lers for the South vestern onference title this year if we et off to a good start."

Dixon has four starters back rom last years squad, which inished 6-16, and all four are apable of being good scorers. But," he pointed out, "we want o have a balanced attack this ear. I don't think our opponents an afford to key on any one dayer like they have the past ew years."

Wingmen Mike Thom's and butch Blalock and forward Wen-lel! Dawkins and Randy Wingo re returnees for the Mountain-ers. Running the show in Dixn's new 1.2.2 offense will be enior Mike Adams, up from the ayvecs. Dixon predicts that if Adams can come of age early, the Mountaineers will be strong.

"Shelby, with all of its start-"Shelby, with all of its start-ers back for the third straight (ear, should be the team to beat with East Rutherford and Crest next," predicts Dixon. "I fee! like we can be right up there with them if we get off to a good start."

Dixon says lack of size and lepth could be the Mountaineers' caknesses but quickness and exerience are in their favor. Dawtins and Wingo, 1 oth 6-1 seniors, will be the keys to the Mountainter defense, which will try to use ts quickness to force KM opponents into turnovers.

Three former Shelby High standouts are going good in local college play. Mike Haggard continues to be the leading receiver for South Carolina. He's caught 40 passes for 573 yards and eight touchdowns, making him the Gamecock's leading scorer with 48 points. Robby Reynolds is averaging almost 40 yards a punt with a longest boot of 53 yards. Defensive halfback Bill Miller has picked off a pair of passes for N. C. State's Wolfpack, the surprise of the ACC.

Harry Gant led all 100 laps to capture the Scout-O-Rama race last Saturday at Hickory Speedway. The victory also enabled the Taylorsville driver to get the early lead in the 1973 point race...Glenn Jarrett, son of Hickory Speedway manager Ned Jarrett, finished fifth in the hobby racc.

South Carolina's defense has the unenviable task of facing the nation's best two passers on consecutive Saturdays. Last week, the Gamecocks got a look at VPI's Don Strock, the nation's top passer, and this week the Sandlappers have to contend with Florida State's Gary Huff, the nation's second best pass flinger.
