MORE ABOUT THORNTON

delabras were used to form an arch at the altar. Brass tree candelabras were used on each side. The prayer bench completed the setting. There were large brass baskets of white garza chrysanthemums, gladioli, carnations, mixed with palm leaves used on each side of the altar.

Mrs. Judy Mackin at the organ rendered a program of wedding music. John Clarence DeVeney escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. The bride's formal wedding gown was designed of silk chiffon fashioned with stand up collar and Bishop-style sleeves. The bodice and sleeves were of Venice lace. The empire bodice was accented with traceries of pearls. The skirt, enhanced with lace trim, had a fullness which extended to a chapel train. Her finger tip veil of French illusion was gathered to a headpiece of lace net, also trimmed with seed pearls. She carried an all white bouquet of white mums, carnations, stephanotis, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Patricia DeVeney, sister-in-law of the bride, attended as matron of honor. Her formal gown of maize green silk chiffon was designed in an empire style, with a darker color lace bodice forming a vest. Her matching headpiece was a petal type forming a flower trimmed with pearls with illusion to the shoulder. She wore matching slippers and carried a bouquet made on the same design of the bride's using green and white with two cymbidium orchids in the center.

Bridesmaids were Marian Hord, cousin of the bride, Sherri Danielson, both of Orlando, Florida, Nancy Troxell, Cindy Schneider and Debbie Thornton, sister-in-law of the groom. They wore dress of apricot silk chiffon designed like the matron of honor with same type headpiece. Their flowers were on the same order as the bride except using apricot color. Robin Counts was flower girl. She wore a miniature formal dress of lemon yellow designed like the other attendants. She carried a white basket filled with rose petals and colors of the wedding party.

William Mackay was the ring bearer. Bruce Thornton, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen included Gary DeVeney, Charles DeVeney, brothers of the bride, Steve Early of Gainesville, Florida, cousin of the groom, Don Waters, and Larry Thornton, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother was escorted by her son, Gary DeVeney. She wore a formal gown of bone petal tipoint shantung embroidered with crystal beads at the waist and high collar. She wore matching slippers. She wore a yellow cymbidium orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother was escorted by her son, Larry Thornton. She wore a formal gown of baby blue polyester brocade with matching scarf and slippers. She wore a yellow cymbidium orchid corsage.

CAKE CUTTING

After their wedding rehearsal on Thanksgiving evening, the bride-elect and bridegroom-to-be were feted at an after-rehearsal party and cake cutting in the fellowship hall of Dixon Presbyterian church. Hosts were the bride-to-be's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Allmond Jr.

The pink and purple theme of the wedding was beautifully carried out in decorative details. Overlaid with white cutwork cloth, the bride's table held the pink, purple and white cake as centerpiece for the table. The cake was cut and served with punch and party refreshments to the wedding party and immediate families.

The bride-to-be wore a pink formal-length dress.

Baptist Men Honor Ladies At Banquet

Baptist Men's Ladies Night Monday evening attracted a large number of men of First Baptist church, their wives and guests. Turkey and ham with all the trimmings were served in a festive Christmas-red and green setting in the cafeteria of Central Junior high school.

Red and green candles decorated the tables and guests, wives of members and widows who were honored at the annual affair, received red carnation corsages. Red and green place cards and programs added to the festive note.

Entertainment for the banquet was provided by Gardner-Webb college professor Jerry Hill and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Hill, and the "All in the Family" of-TV stars Archie Bunker and wife, delighted the audience with their pantomime and comedy routine. Dr. Eugene Poston, president of Gardner-Webb college, was guest speaker and used the topic, "Doing For Others."

John Bumgardner gave the invocation and Herman Greene welcomed guests. Mrs. Sam Blanton gave the response to the welcome and Charles Alexander presented Dr. and Mrs. Hill and Dr. Poston. Ed Hightower said the benediction.

Young ladies of the church assisted in serving the meal and were also presented Christmas favors from the host group.
