U. S. ARMY, GERMANY (AHTNC) -- His name isn't Gutenberg, but he runs printing presses in Germany. Army Sergeant First Class Donald R. Smith of Grover, N. C., is assigned to the Reproduction Center at Headquarters, U. S. Theatre Army Support Command, Europe (TASCOM), at Worms, Germany. As noncommissioned officer in charge (NCOIC) at the Center, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Smith of Route 1, Grover, supervises the running of 1 to 1.5 million copies through the Center's printing presses each month. Sgt. Smith, whose wife, Paula, is with him in Germany, has three enlisted men and two German civilians to assist him in the shop. Normal work, he says, takes four days, while special jobs take a little longer. Department of the Army limits to 25,000 the number of copies on any one job. Sometimes, when the workload is heavy, Sgt. Smith operates a printing press.
