By CINDIE FALLS
KMSHS Correspondent

On Fri., Jan. 28, the KMSHS French Club presented their annual "January Jam." This is a program composed of KMSHS students who entertain the student body. This year a rock group called "Shotgun" performed. This group consists of Al Eddins, Weale Narron, Richard Philbeck. "Shotgun" presented a concert Friday night for the Woman's Club. Mike Bumgarner, a senior, also gave an imitation of Elvis Presley.

A Senate meeting was held last Wednesday in which topics were brought up and discussed concerning a student exchange day and changing the school colors and mascots. A House meeting was then held on the following Thursday. Several students were named to the All State Band from KMSHS. They were Susan Anderson, Keith Williams, Regina Patterson, Cindy Wells, Leanne DeVane, Ray Clemmer, Chris Holmes, Keith Holt, Lindsay Holmes and Kevin Allison. Students received report cards on Wednesday.

Crisis.
That word is already commonplace in northern cities as the cold weather continues to grip the nation. At least two Cleveland County facilities — Gardner-Webb College and Cleveland Memorial Library — will begin operating on a four-day week, as an energy conservation measure. The four-day week at Gardner-Webb College in Bolling Springs is one of several voluntary adjustments that institution has made in response to the national energy situation created by severe winter weather. Mrs. Maude Kesley, librarian at Cleveland Memorial Library, said their four-day work week policy is now effective. She said the library will be open Mondays through Fridays from 9 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. The library will not be open during evening hours nor will schedule any afternoon or evening meetings for groups desiring to use the meeting room facilities. Both Dr. Craven Williams, president of the college, and Mrs. Kelsey said the adjustments will be effective "until further notice." Dr. Williams said adjustments will be made in the Monday and Wednesday class schedules to compensate for the loss of Friday classes.
