

'Play It Again, Sam' Continues

"Play It Again, Sam," Woody Allen's hit comedy, will re-open tonight, Friday and Saturday for three more performances at the Gastonia Little Theater.

Gunnar Neilsen, LT president, said, "We want to invite our friends in the Kings Mountain area to come down and see this very funny show."

"Play It Again, Sam," is the story of an inept little guy named Allan Felix who earns his living by writing for Film Quarterly. The job suits him because he is a movie buff from the word go.

In fact he is so infatuated with the movies that he is visited regularly by the ghost of Humphrey Bogart, who tries to teach Allan how to win with the women. But the harder he tries, the worse the outcome.

Jesse Caldwell, a Gastonia attorney, portrays Allan Felix in the same mold as originally done by Woody Allen on both the Broadway stage and the motion picture screen. His ghostly visitor — Bogart — is portrayed by Tom McIntyre, editor of the Kings Mountain Mirror-Herald.

Garland Atkins and Betty Blume of Gastonia portray Dick and Linda Christie, Allan's best friends and a large cast supports the leads in a fast-paced and funny parade of dream sequences conjured by Allan's overactive imagination.

Paul Holman, who directed the comedy, added a prologue to the play to make use of the numerous people who came to read for parts during the casting session.

"Fortunately, the prologue fits and does not take away from the play itself," Holman said. "As the curtain rises we find Allan seated before his TV set watching the final moments of 'Casablanca.' Instead of playing a tape from the movie soundtrack, we play it out with live actors as another of Allan's dream sequences."

Tickets for these last three 8:15 p. m. performances are $3 for adults and $2 for students. For reservations call the Gastonia Little Theatre box office, Caly St. Ext., 865-0160.

DONALD PATTERSON

Receives Honors On Essay

Donald Preston Patterson, Jr. eighth grade student at Palm Cove Beach School and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Patterson of Kings Mountain, received a silver medal and a book for the school library as a result of placing first in the American History Essay contest conducted by Pompano Beach Fontenada Chapter of the DAR.

In state wide competition, Donald's essay on Battles of the American Revolution, detailing the Battle of Kings Mountain, won him a first place in the state and a $25 savings bond which was presented at the DAR State Conference March 3-5.

Colonel and Mrs. Alan Moorman have also awarded Donald a $500 scholarship to be applied to his 1977-78 tuition at Palm Cove Beach School of which Colonel Moorman is president, this award being made in appreciation of Donald's essay honor.

Post 155 To Host Go-Getters

Legionnaires of Post 155 were host Saturday evening at the Post home on York Rd. to the annual Fifth Division Go-Getters Banquet.

N. C. Department Commander J. B. Trexler, Jr. of Salisbury was special guest.

Post Commander Rick Moore welcomed the approximately 250 Legionnaires from all over the Western area of North Carolina.

Go-Getters banquets honor those members who have excelled as membership "getters."
