Overlaid with yellow cloth, the refreshment table was centered with a novelty baby arrangement and yellow spring flowers. Hot Russian tea was served with nuts, cheese spread, yellow petit-fours, and sausage balls.

Mrs. Donald Crawford of Nags Head, mother of the hostess, and Mrs. Robert Crawford assisted in serving and entertaining.

The Don Crawfords are visiting their daughter, Donna, and son-in-law, Joe Cornwell, and their 17-month-old daughter, Angela Kay.

Kings Mountain weatherman Arthur Blitcliffe, retired mailman, has been predicting the weather since 1945.

And he doesn't miss many times. He says that it doesn't make any difference what kind of weather there is, and in spite of Tuesday night's low, that this year will be a giant crop year with over abundance of peaches, apples, grapes, figs, and garden produce. In fact, the year 1977 will be the best crop year in the last 20 years.

Mr. Blitcliffe made his remarks after he was deluged with phone calls Wednesday morning by plant lovers who wanted to know if their figs were frozen and other crops ruined by frosty temperatures.

There are some precautions we can take to prevent frost damage to flowers and shrubs. Covering shrubbery, flowers or anything in bloom with cloth, paper or polyethylene, say local extension agents who caution against polyethylene unless you remember to remove the cover in mornings before the sun gets too warm. Hardy plants can withstand the cold.

Welcome Spring With Art

East School third graders welcomed Spring 1977 Monday with a "Welcome Back, Spring Day" with special festivities attended by kindergartners, first and second graders, parents and friends.

The children engaged in spring activities throughout the day. The activities included working on spring booklets prepared by the teachers, making spring flowers from colorful tissue paper, decorating the classroom with kites made by the children, guessing jelly beans in a bunny jar and singing spring music.

Reg Alexander entertained the children with a skit about Spring. Highlight of the festivities was a Spring Fashion Show featuring the third graders.

A crowd pleaser was Principal C. A. Allison who modeled high-water pants with rubber boots, the outfit accented by a skinny tie, rope, belt, and a well-worn fishing hat. Mr. Allison strolled to the music of "Pretty Baby."

Working with the children on the special day activities were Patsy Smith, school DPT, Sue Gaine, third grade aide, and teachers Barbara Brennan and Cindy Wood.
