

4-Hers Learning Craft Of Crocheting

Counting stitches is one of the features that Dixon Community 4-H Girls learn as they crochet both round and square potholders in both single and double crochet workshops.

The Granny Square was a popular pattern for some of the girls as they enjoy making blankets for their dolls. The Senior 4-Hers enjoyed making handbags, toboggans and tote bags as gifts for friends.

All the workshops were held in the homes of members with instructions provided by Mrs. Florence Brooks, county extension agent, and Mrs. Oscar Greene, 4-H leader, assisted by two of the mothers, Mrs. Wayne Wells and Mrs. Tom Berry who also enjoyed making afghans.

Refreshments, all prepared by the 4-Hers, were served in the homes and one grandfather, Wayne Wells, served popcorn and tea.

Young ladies participating were Brenda Berry, Anne Childers, Debbie Goforth, Sandi Wells and Gay Caveny.

tonight (Thursday) for worshipers to enter. The lights will be low, meditative music will be played, devotional guides will be furnished and the Sacraments of Communion will be served continuously at the communion table in the front of the sanctuary.

According to Rev. Gary Bryant, pastor, "the best preparation for Easter that you can make would be to attend the Tenebrae Service at 7:30 p. m. Friday. The service will begin with full house lights and as you proceed to relive the last few days of Jesus' life through music symbols and the reading of the story from Mark, the lights will gradually grow dim. By the end of the story, the entire sanctuary will be in darkness, symbolizing the death of the "Light of the World" and the waning faith of his followers who finally deserted Him altogether.

"Following a brief period of total darkness," said Rev. Mr. Bryant, "the rear doors will open and we will leave the darkness of the sanctuary to await the Easter experience."

presented by Kings Mountain Senior High School on Tuesday night, April 12, at 7:30 p. m. in Barnes Auditorium.

Forrest Wheeler, principal, would like to extend a welcome to parents of students who are going to be in next years Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes. The program will explain graduation requirements and will attempt to familiarize parents with registration procedures used at the High School.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program. All parents of students who will be sophomores, juniors, and seniors next school year are urged to attend.

An opportunity will be extended for parents to

MR. AND MRS. R. H. WEBB celebrate Golden Wedding Day

Webbs Observe Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Halbert Webb celebrated their Golden Wedding Day Saturday at a Fiftieth Anniversary reception hosted by their children and grandchildren in the Fellowship Hall of First Presbyterian Church.

Entertaining together were Mrs. Jean Webb Neill of Charlotte and Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. (Dick) Webb, Jr. of Richmond, Va. and their children, Mrs. Peter Herran (Kathy Neill), Mr. Herran, Miss Libby Neill of Columbia, S. C., Allison Neill of Charlotte, and Debbie and Sharon Webb of Richmond, Va.

Members of the Webb family received with the honored pair. Mrs. Webb wore a long pale yellow empire gown and a corsage of deep yellow roses at her shoulder. She carried a silver gold mesh bag given to her by Mr. Webb on their wedding day 50 years ago at the home of her parents in Concord.

A member of Mary Belle Cannon and Halbert Webb's original wedding party, Ed Morrison of Concord, who was an usher, was among the 200 friends who called from 3 until 5 p. m.

The golden wedding theme was beautifully featured in decorative detail and refreshments. Overlaid with yellow lace over yellow linen, the refreshment table held a silver candelabrum of gold candles with epergne in the center of the table of snapdragons, daffodils, and tulips, all in yellow. A five-tiered wedding cake centered a round table, also overlaid with linen and lace yellow cloths, and a silver punch bowl centered a second round table where guests were served golden fruit punch with lemon sherbet. Yellow and white, golden roses and bells decorated the wedding cake which was topped with 60 in golden numerals.

Arrangements of yellow roses and tulips, mums, palms and magnolia leaves were used throughout the reception area. On the walls on each side of the room were brass candelabra set with gold tapers.

Receiving and assisting in serving refreshments were Rev. and Mrs. Gary Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Page, Dr. and Mrs. O. P. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mauney, Mrs. Charles Dilling, Mrs. W. L. Ramseur, Mrs. C. Don Blanton, Mrs. Ernest Harris, Mrs. Bob Maner, Mrs. Henry Neisler, Mrs. Charles Neisler, Mrs. H. O. Williams and Mrs. E. L. Jenkins.

Silver trays held an assortment of party pickups, including open faced cream cheese and asparagus rolled sandwiches, chicken salad puffs, gold decorated mints, nuts, nutty fingers, and cheese biscuits.

Guests were from Kings Mountain, Richmond, Va., Concord, Charlotte, Chapel Hill, High Point, Gastonia, Lowell, Laurel Hill, Shelby and Columbia, S. C.
