

Couple Back From Wedding Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Irvin Dreher have returned from a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast and have resumed their studies at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, La., where both are seniors.

Miss Kelly Delane McGinnis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Michael McGinnis, Jr., formerly of Kings Mountain and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McGinnis of Kings Mountain, became Mr. Dreher's bride in a formal 7 p. m. wedding in St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church with Father Mangiaracena officiating at the double-ring ceremony.

The couple spoke their vows in a candlelight setting of beauty and quiet dignity. Ten candelabra down the aisles of the church were draped with smilax and baskets of mixed flowers and candelabrum of lighted tapers were on each side of the altar with two single candles burning on the altar.

Dr. Rose Hover of New Orleans, La. was organist for the program of nuptial music and Miss Cheryl Fell of Baton Rouge was vocal soloist, who sang "The Wedding Song" and "Climb Every Mountain" with guitar accompaniment.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an elegant long gown of ivory-hued silk organza and re-embroidered Alencon lace encrusted in seed pearls. The bodice, fashioned of the lace, had a sheer organza yoke and a ring collar of lace. Appliques of lace were scattered down the length of the long straight sleeves and the A-line skirt had an A-shaped panel of lace down the front of the skirt. A deep border of lace finished the hemline and train. Her fingertip mantilla of imported English illusion was edged in matching lace, the elbow-length layer was scattered with small appliques. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

Miss Mary Kate Gonyal of New Orleans was the bride's maid of honor and Miss Lanie Thomas of New Orleans and Miss Lisa Dreher, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

All the attendants wore long gowns of shell pink organza. The fitted bodice had a scoop neckline edged by two flounces and the full skirts were also edged by a flounce which formed a bustle to the back. In their hair, they wore bows of silk. They carried one long-stemmed pink rose with baby's breath.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Groomsmen were Glen Dreher, brother of the bridegroom; John Michael McGinnis, III, and Mark McGinnis, brothers of the bride. Ushers were Kenny Ibas and Danny Webber, both of New Orleans.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McGinnis chose an aqua Quiana formal capped in chiffon.

The bridegroom's mother was gowned in lime green chiffon and floral print.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McGinnis of Kings Mountain, and Mrs. Joe H. Delany of Atlanta, Ga., grandparents of the bride, were ushered and seated in family pews.

After the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a beautifully-appointed reception at Lakewood Country Club where the theme of the wedding was featured in decorative details and refreshments. Guests danced to the music of the Godfrey Hirsch band.

Palms were placed throughout the club lounge where small tables were draped with pale blue satin and held nosegays of pink sweetheart roses and gypsophilla. The bride's table held a five-tiered wedding cake and an arrangement of sweetheart roses, tuberose and gypsophilla. Cake and punch were served with party pick-ups.

For traveling, the bride wore a white Quiana dress with white Talisman sash and carried a small bouquet of Talisman silk roses and baby's breath.

Educators Hold Meeting

After the invocation by Kathryn Sappenfield, the group enjoyed a delicious breakfast from tables made attractive, using large ratan baskets of red apples as centerpieces and the stand-up programs cut in the shape of an apple.

Maude Carter, the president, introduced Mrs. Helen Rhyne Marvin, State Senator from the 25th District, as speaker for the morning. Her topic was "A Woman's Place in The Home and Senate."

Mrs. Marvin inserted much wit and humor as she related happenings in the Senate and she stressed the part women can play in the Senate. She firmly believes that the quality of the General Assembly will improve with the appearance of women in the Senate and she said her place there has been most rewarding. She insisted that we women should cut ourselves a nitch in affairs outside the home as well as the duties in the home. In closing remarks, Mrs. Marvin insisted that women need to channel their contributions in many, many ways.

During the business session conducted by Carter, it was announced that the yearly district meeting of which Mrs. Grady Howard is director, will meet in Kings Mountain at Resurrection Lutheran Church Oct. 1 at 10:30 a. m. This meeting includes teachers from seven chapters of Delta Kappa Gamma.
