Tips On Locks Prevent Break-Ins

By MIKE SANDERS
Crime Prevention Officer

FRONT ENTRANCE — Door should be metal clad or solid core wood construction. A deadlock, in addition to the key-in-the-knob lock is essential. Use a wide-angle viewer rather than a door chain to observe callers. A screen door or storm door offers additional protection if kept locked.

GROUND FLOOR WINDOWS — All ground floor windows should have key-operated sash locks or other locks as described in this booklet. Keep your windows closed and locked when you are away. Screens and storm windows should be securely fastened to the structure.

UPPER FLOOR WINDOWS — Keep your second floor secure by trimming tree branches away from the house to prevent climbing, and do not store ladders where a burglar can use them. Lock all windows while you are away. Take the same precautions as with ground floor windows.

BASEMENT WINDOWS

— Close and lock your basement windows. If they are not required for ventilation, they should be permanently secured by using screws through the window frame into the structure. Treat the door from your basement into the main part of the house as an exterior door.

GARAGE DOOR — The garage door should always be closed and locked. Make sure that you treat the entrance door from the garage to your house the same as any other door. A burglar in your garage can work on your house door undetected.

If anyone plans to be away for a length of 24 hours or more, please contact the Kings Mountain Police Department Crime Prevention Office at 739-3838 or 739-7444 for a Home Security Check. For more information, contact the Kings Mountain Police Department Crime Prevention Officer at the above numbers.

Schools To Screen

The Kings Mountain Schools have made plans for a screening program designed to find back abnormalities among school children in the sixth grades.

William Davis, School Superintendent, says the simple examination procedure, which will be handled by professionals, will require about 30 seconds.

The school officials are urging local parents to grant permission for the simple tests. School children will bring home special forms for parents to sign, giving their approval beginning next week.

The objective of the program is to detect spinal irregularities which can more easily be corrected in young children. Too often, the officials say, back curvatures are not discovered until so late that permanent damage has been done and drastic treatment is required.

Signs of Scoliosis, the medical term for spinal curvature, are found in approximately five to ten percent of young people examined. Continued follow-up or treatment is needed in only about two percent of the cases.

Spinal deformities often develop during the years of early adolescence, when the young person grows very rapidly. The treatment, when necessary, usually consists of a back brace which helps to correct the condition and keep it from progressing. A brace does not interfere with most activities, in including non-contact sports.

The parents of students found to have signs of Scoliosis will be notified and urged to take their child to a physician for further evaluation.

The examination, itself, requires only that the child bend forward and bend to the sides. The examining personnel observe the spine and usually do not have to touch the body. The scoliosis screening will be conducted at Central School on Tues., May 16, 1978.
