KMers Could Miss Out On Cash Income

There could be many people in the Kings Mountain area who are missing out on much needed cash income because they don't know about the supplemental security income (SSI) program, Kenneth Shelton, social security branch manager in Shelby said today.

SSI, administered by social security, makes monthly cash payments to people in financial need who are 65 or over, or blind, or disabled. It makes no difference how old or young a person is to receive SSI payments because of blindness or disability, Shelton continued.

A person does not have to be destitute to receive SSI. An otherwise eligible person can own some property and have some other income and still receive SSI payments. But, there are limits to the amount of income and what can be owned, Shelton emphasized.

A person can have assets, what he or she owns, that count worth up to $1,500, $2,250 for a couple, and still be eligible for SSI. Not everything counts. A house the person lives in does not count as an asset, nor does an older car.

Personal effects do not count. What does count are items of value — bank or savings accounts, cash, jewelry, other real estate, antiques, large insurance policies (over $1,500), and similar items.

Not all income counts. Generally, the first $20 of unearned income in a month does not count. Above that, though the SSI payment is reduced dollar for dollar. The first $65 a month of earned income does not count. Above that, the SSI payment is reduced $1 for each $2 of earnings.

Living arrangements also can affect the amount of payment. A person living in someone else's household generally receives a reduced payment.

The maximum Federal SSI payment is $177.80 a month for an individual and $266.70 a month for a couple.

Circles of First Presbyterian Church are meeting this week.

Mrs. C. Don Blanton entertained members of Circle Five at her home on West Gold Street Monday afternoon and members of Circle Four, with Mrs. B. W. Rhea as hostess, met Monday evening in the Ladies Bible Class of the church.

Mrs. Henry Neisler will be hostess to Circles One and Three at her home on Neisler Drive Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

A parents' income and assets count in deciding if a child under 18, 21 if a student, is eligible for SSI. Anyone who knows of someone who might be eligible for SSI can help by suggesting that he or she check with the Shelby social security office. The people there will be glad to provide more detailed information about SSI and to answer questions.

The Shelby social security office is located at 231 N. Lafayette St. The telephone number is 482-8644.

WEEKLY Health Tips

From Wilson Griffin

While considered one of the safest drugs, aspirin sometimes causes gastro-intestinal bleeding. Studies indicate the bleeding results from a local effect produced by aspirin particles.

To minimize or avoid the effect, Dr. Martin I. Blake of U. of Ill. advises aspirin tablets should not be swallowed whole. Patients are advised to thoroughly chew and swallow the tablets with an adequate amount of water, or to crush them to a fine powder and mix with orange juice.
