

At KM Senior High Educating The Individual

(Begins On Page 1B)

Mrs. Anna Taylor, who has taught Spanish to 40 students this year, says there is so much interest in Spanish that an additional class will be offered next year. A total of 110 students are enjoying French, says Mrs. Peeler who noted that 13 of her group will take a tour of Paris this summer, the group departing June 23 and returning to Kings Mountain July 1. Several adults and Mrs. Peeler will accompany the group who will also tour the Chateau Country of France.

In preparation for the trip students have been learning about French customs and dress from Francoise LePortois, student exchange teacher this year at KMSHS.

Another area of individualized attention is offered the student who has difficulty reading or adjusting in the classroom is the learning disabilities program headed by Steve Baker. Mr. Baker is receiving good response to this program.

There are many outlets for students on campus for students to participate in whatever interests them, an excellent sports program, club activities, choral and band groups, etc.

Bill Cashion, head of the Driver's Education Department, said that 250 students have learned to operate a car this year and obtained their driver's license. A summer course is planned which is expected to enroll 180 more.

Bud Bumgardner, in his fifth year as welding instructor, said the most ambitious job his 27 students did this year was to build a complete cattle trailer for Ed Yarboro. The students built the trailer "from the ground up" in four weeks. Many area farmers use the service of this talented group of boys and girls.

Students have many choices at Kings Mountain Senior High.

Even in the cafeteria, a student can decide whether he wants a sandwich, a hot plate with vegetables or would you believe a milk shake or hot fudge cake?

Mrs. Cozell Vance, Dean of Women, and Blane Froneberger, Dean of Men, reported fewer suspensions and fewer disciplinary actions this year. Students "sign out" with the deans when they leave the building and "sign in" when they return. These administrators also enforce the absentee policy on the campus.

Principal Wheeler says he is proud of the accomplishments of KMSHS students and the 53 member faculty.

About 80 percent of the present senior class do not plan post high school training. Through departmentalized and individualized education through diversification the high school is meeting those needs.

Also painted on the walls of the beautiful commons area in the handsome, sprawling plant, are these lines:

It takes a very long time to become young. They will say you are on the wrong road if it is your own.

William F. (Bill) Davis, Superintendent of Kings Mountain District Schools, was surprised on Educational Bosses Day Friday at a luncheon hosted by Administrative Office Personnel.

The event featured a "roasting" of the superintendent, including presentation of a number of "gag" and useful gifts for the new home that Eunice and Bill Davis are building off Shelby Rd. Included were such items as paint brushes, planters, a miniature truck, work gloves, and limiment for sore muscles.

Representing Office Personnel Mrs. Wanza Y. Davis, finance officer and office manager, presented Mr. Davis a proclamation signed by the 30 employees present.

The proclamation read: "Whereas, the nation's school administrators are dedicated to promote the cause of education; and whereas, the role of the administrator is becoming more demanding and complex, and whereas, administrators must often participate in professional and civic duties during office hours; and whereas, notwithstanding the pressures and demands of the professional obligations, administrators are sympathetic to those with whom they work; Now therefore be it proclaimed, that in grateful recognition of this unselfish service to school and community, the week of May 14-20, 1978, shall be known as Educational Bosses Week, to be observed in the educational offices and schools of this nation."

FOR SOUND PROGRESSIVE LEADERSHIP RE-ELECT

L.E. (JOSH) HINNANT CLEVELAND COUNTY COMMISSIONER INDUSTRY SEEKING - GO GETTER

In April 1967, L. E. "Josh" Hinnant was appointed co-chairman of Kings Mountain's Industrial Development Committee.

His service since has been of great benefit to Kings Mountain, to Cleveland County and to Cleveland County citizens. The first of eighteen new industrial citizens to begin operations in Kings Mountain area of Cleveland County since the county commission candidate went to work at his new (non-paying) "job", was Alcan Aluminum and followed by other national companies such as Eaton Corporation, Allegheny Ludlum and Northwest Industries, to name a few. This industrial development has increased the Cleveland County tax base millions of dollars. As you know, an expanding tax base is a means of keeping tax bills lower. More important to the individual is JOBS. These new industries employ 4,000 people. This has played a major part in Cleveland County, having only a 2 percent unemployment rate, which is one of the lowest in the NATION.

Josh Hinnant, a banker, is as interested in maintaining lowest possible tax bills as anyone and perhaps more than most. He is keenly aware of the property owner's concern over the upcoming tax evaluation, and if elected, pledges to see that all property owners are treated fairly.
