

Child Program Director To Speak

David Long, director of development of the Productive Child Program at the Gilmore Institute of Boston, will speak to a gathering of businessmen in Kings Mountain Jan. 15.

Mayor John Moss is inviting the area businessmen to attend the Dutch luncheon at Cattelown, USA on W. King St. to hear Long speak on the program which he directs.

Long is also scheduled to address a general meeting of the Association of Classroom Teachers (ACT) at 8:15 p. m. on Jan. 15 at Central School, according to ACT President George Lublaneski.

Lublaneski said Long's appearance at both the noon luncheon at the steak house and at Central is to stir interest in a public workshop for parents of local students planned by ACT in the near future.

"The workshop will be to help make parents more aware of their children's total development in relation to the schools," Lublaneski said. "ACT will sponsor the workshop and will announce full information on dates and location as developed."

Dr. Tom Haggai To Speak

Dr. Tom Haggai will be the guest speaker for the morning worship service at Central United Methodist Church in Kings Mountain, Sun., Jan. 14. A college athlete and orator, Dr. Haggai has been the constant recipient of honors. Among the honors received are honorary degrees from High Point College and Salem College; DSA winner at age 23; Chauncey Rose Award for Free Enterprise from Rose-Hulman Polytechnic; North Carolina Distinguished Citizen's Award; North Greenville College Distinguished Alumnus Award; American Humanics Life Membership; and dozens of honorary state, city and fraternal and military citizenships.

Yet the honor Tom prizes most is the Boy Scouts of America's highest national award . . . the Silver Buffalo . . . which he received in 1971 at the age of 40.

Because of his commitment to help youth through Scouting, from March, 1975, to June, 1977, Dr. Haggai added to his already crowded schedule the responsibilities of National Director of Personnel for BSA where he guided the personnel procedures for the 8,000 employees.

Of all this, what "turns Dr. Haggai on" is the reporter who sat among 1,000 other listeners and reported to his readers: "As Tom Haggai picked up the mike and stood before the audience without podium or notes, I soon felt I was the only one present having a one-to-one visit with a friend."

Rev. R. E. Boggan, Jr., Pastor of Central United Methodist Church, extends a cordial invitation to the public to join his congregation for this special worship service.

GUEST SPEAKER - Dr. Tom Haggai of High Point will bring his own unique style of religious conversation to Central United Methodist Church this Sunday morning. The public is invited to attend the 11 a. m. services.
