COOPER'S IS LONGTIME BUSINESS CITIZEN — Cooper's, Inc. on Railroad Ave. has been a Kings Mountain furniture business citizen since 1935. An "Appreciation Days" sale, beginning Thursday, will celebrate the firm's growth and is designed to thank both old and new customers for continued patronage and friendship.

joined the local firm and has just returned from the Atlanta Home Furnishings & Floor Covering Markets, and predicts more to come.

"We started out with coal heaters, oil cook stoves and wooden tables back in 1940," said Mr. Barnette. All-electric and gas appliances, beautiful wood finishings, Early American upholstery, and pine and maple finishes are just a few of the popular items in furniture today, he added.

"Our appreciation days sales are designed to thank both our old and new customers for their continued patronage and friendship," said Barnette.

Landscaping

Course Set

For Tuesday

The Continuing Education department at Cleveland Tech has scheduled an advanced landscaping class to begin Tues., Feb. 6, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. on Tech's Campus in room 1004.

Bill Roberts, an experienced professional in landscaping will instruct the class. This will be an advanced class, and those wishing to enroll should have had the beginners class or some knowledge of landscaping.

This particular class will involve mostly field work during which the class will develop a landscaping plan on a live project provided by the students.

City Projects Are Underway

Ongoing projects concerning sewer line and electrical service upgrading are underway in Kings Mountain according to Alvin Moretz, city engineer.

Moretz confirmed this week that Culp Brothers, low bid contract awardee for the installation of about 4,400 feet of 15 inch sewer line, has reported progress.

The new line is being installed on the Cansler St. outfall line east through the J. E. and William Herndon property, Davidson Park and the Harmon Court area to the existing line west of Watterson st. New line will also be installed from the Cansler St. lines east through Orr Terrace, the former Elmer Lumber Co. property, beneath the Southern Railroad tracks and Depot Center property to connect with the line at the Parker St. and N. Battleground Ave. intersection.

"This 15 inch sewer line will replace an old and overloaded eight inch line, which serves about a fourth of the city," Moretz said. "The system now handles mostly domestic waste with a little industrial waste."

The construction contract, granted under Community Development Block Grant funding, calls for 180 days to completion. However, Moretz said the firm may conclude construction before their deadline.

The conduit pipe being installed on S. Piedmont Ave. will connect with enlarged manholes installed last winter. Once the conduit is in place, the electrical system will be placed underground, completing the loop for the downtown area.

The loop begins at the intersection of S. Cherokee and Spruce Sts., runs down Lake St. to Gold, then back to Piedmont.

Moretz said once the loop is completed the utility poles in that quadrant will be removed.

"The reason the poles on Cherokee St. have not been removed as yet is due to the fact that Southern Bell has not taken down their lines and placed them underground," Moretz said. The electrical system upgrading is also covered under CD funding.
