Tenth Rehab Contract Let

A total of 10 contracts have been awarded under the Kings Mountain Housing Rehabilitation Program since it began less than a year ago. Number 10 was awarded Monday night by the board of commissioners to Gene Tatum Construction Co. for his low bid of $7,206 on the Mary Dover home, 29 Bennett Dr.

Reg Alexander of the city's rehab program told the board Tatum's bid was the lowest of three submitted on the Dover project.

"This project is for extensive renovations of the interior, with some exterior work, to bring the Dover home up to city codes," Alexander said.

The 10 projects represent a total commitment of $71,271.66 through Monday, according to Alexander. Seven of the 10 projects have been completed and eight different local and area contractors have won contract bids.

"During these first contracts," Alexander continued, "we have authorized work in different areas of the city. But, this summer when new monies are allocated through Community Development we will have to narrow down to a more specific target area, which HUD has approved."

The CD budget request for rehab beginning in June is $60,000.

The target area is in the northeast quadrant of the city and according to Alexander there are about 20 acceptable applications from within the area on hand. "We have that many already," he said, "but we estimate that most of the households in the target area could qualify for some rehab work."

Alexander said, "The biggest problem we face is the large number of homes qualified for rehab. The problem being we do not have the funds available now to take care of these homes. We have 150 applications on file with about 78 of them qualifying in every way."

"We just can't reach as many homes as we would like to," Alexander said. "We will continue receiving applications and the ones currently on file will be kept active because we feel HUD will keep the rehab program alive at least another three years."
