

Speaks To Local Club

Jaycee President Special Guest Here

United States Jaycee president Barry Kennedy was the special guest speaker at a breakfast meeting of the Kings Mountain Jaycees on Monday.

On hand to greet President Kennedy was the North Carolina Jaycee President, Harold Herring, the District Director for Kings Mountain, John Lowery, Mayor John Henry Moss, and 26 members of the Kings Mountain Jaycees.

Kennedy hails from Pawnee City, Neb, where he led the Nebraska Jaycees to numerous membership records. In his term as U.S. Jaycee President, Kennedy has logged some 300,000 air miles and has visited every state in the Union.

In his speech to the local Jaycees, Kennedy said he came to North Carolina to be with the winners. The state presently ranks number one among the 50 states. Also, he said the Kings Mountain Jaycees are nearing the number one spot in their division and that "the local chapter must push hard these last 21 days of the Jaycee year so at the State convention in May they will indeed be Number One."

The Kings Mountain Jaycees are presently conducting a membership drive in the community. Major emphasis has been put on the larger industries and in a Junior Jaycee chapter at the Senior High School.

Any persons interested in information about the Jaycee or interested in joining the Jaycees should contact Al Moretz, David Dilling, Allan Propst, Larry Hamrick, Jr. or any Kings Mountain Jaycee.

Buyer And Supplier Conference Set April

Suppliers of goods and services to businesses will have the opportunity to meet face to face with buyers from 25 major companies in North Carolina at a buyer-supplier conference April 25 in Charlotte.

The conference is sponsored by the N.C. Department of Commerce and Metrolina Area Chambers of Commerce, which includes Charlotte and nearby counties. The conference begins at 8 a.m. in the I-85 Airport Holiday Inn.

Among the buyers are IBM, Philip Morris, and The Timken Company. All three companies are in the process of building major facilities in the metrolina area.

Other buyers include Burlington Industries, R.J. Reynolds Industries, The Cannon Mills, General Electric, and the North Carolina State Division of Purchase and Contract. "These buyers will be in the marketplace for millions of dollars of goods and services over the next year," said Secretary of Commerce D.M. "Lauch" Faircloth. "I'm glad they are showing this interest in buying Regional products and can't encourage suppliers enough to attend."

Invitations have been sent to over 2,000 suppliers. "The list of what these companies might buy is almost endless," said Frank A. Holman, project coordinator.

Admission to the conference is free. Persons who want more information should contact Jerry King, Director, KM Economic Development Office, 739-5246, or The N.C. Dept. of Commerce (919) 733-4414.

WOMEN on Wheels

HELPFUL HINTS

By Carol Torres

You don't have to be mechanically minded to take good care of yourself and your car, just as you needn't be a scientist to take good care of your health. Often, just being careful is enough.

Before you even turn on the ignition, make sure you're safe. Lock all doors, buckle your seat belt, check the mirror and make any necessary seat adjustments. You should be no more than eight inches away from the steering wheel.

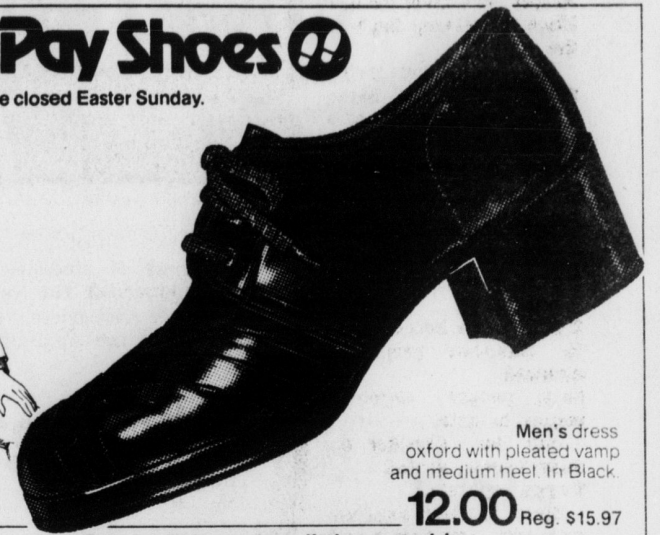

While driving, look carefully not just at the car ahead but at two cars ahead, to the side and behind you. Always look for an out. At any time, you may have to swerve off the road to avoid a collision.

Consider your car. Can it protect you from excessive expenses? It's more likely if you keep it in good repair. It's smart to start out with a money saver, and you may be able to do so without sacrificing speed, size or style. The top-of-the-line St. Regis from Dodge has a six-cylinder engine standard that accelerates well, yet is economical to drive.

When you stop, use the engine as a brake, pressing the brake pedal intermittently, not steadily. This brings the car to a smooth stop, keeps the brakes cool, prevents undue wear of the brake linings and keeps the wheels from locking on slippery surfaces.
