

Home Wedding Unites Reynolds-McGill Couple

The home of the bridegroom's parents in Clover, S.C. was setting for the Saturday wedding of Ann Waring Reynolds and Kenneth Thomson McGill, both of Spartanburg, S.C.

The Rev. David Bridgforth, pastor of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Spartanburg, S.C., heard the couple exchange vows in the presence of their immediate families.

Blue iris, yellow roses and candles enhanced the setting.

Julian C. Reynolds gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore a calf-length gown of vanilla Quiana and apple blossoms in her hair. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white roses and blue iris.

James William McGill of Clover, S.C. was his brother's best man.

Miss Emily Hatcher, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a blue-grey street-length gown and carried a bouquet of daisies.

Donald Dunlap Coe, Jr., the bridegroom's son, was acolyte and Julianne Prentiss Coe, the bride's daughter, was flowergirl. The bridegroom's mother chose a creme colored street-length dress with pastel flowers.

After the ceremony, the bride's father entertained at a reception in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. McGill, parents of the bridegroom. The wedding colors were featured in decorative details and refreshments.
