H.S. Students May Enroll At Gaston

DALLAS, N.C.—Dual enrollment means dual opportunity and that means that high school students who meet certain criteria may take college courses while still in high school.

Many high school students, who would like an additional learning experience, now have the opportunity to take courses which may not be available at the high school level due to their lack of time or scheduling limitations.

Dual enrollment enables high school students to begin their college career earlier. This would be a good way to utilize the summer months. Take several courses which will make the fall quarter study load lighter.

Students may enroll in Gaston College credit courses which do not require a college level prerequisite course, providing there is class space available. Non credit courses in Continuing Education and Community Service are also available and present many education opportunities for the high school student.

For information on dual enrollment, call Gaston College, 922-3136. Dr. Dean Jones, ext. 314 or Dr. Milton Hagen, ext. 253.
