MAD Week Slated At KM High School

Next week is MAD Week at our school. We think that Make A Difference Week is an important time for us. We have two main goals for the week. We want to emphasize the importance of a high school education, and we want our students to more fully realize that Kings Mountain Senior High School is a special place to receive that education. Last year's activities were really special to me, the faculty, and the students, and I think this year's week is going to be even better.

The week's activities begin on Monday which is "Sprucin' Up Day". You cannot develop pride in a school which does not care about its appearance. On this day our students and faculty get involved in cleaning up our buildings and grounds. Through helping improve the appearance of the school, we hope students will better understand the need to keep it clean. We'll be rolling up our sleeves and working hard on this day to make our campus look nice.

"Make A Friend" Day is Tuesday. Good human relations will be our emphasis. We hope everyone here will get in the habit of being friendly and courteous to their neighbors and that everyone will get to know someone at Kings Mountain Senior High School on this day that they didn't know when the week started. WBTU personality Mike McKay will speak to a school-wide assembly in the morning. Our Human Relations will sponsor other activities in keeping with the theme on of the day.

Wednesday is "Classes With Class Day". Our teachers will be having special activities in all of their classes. We believe that classes can be fun as well as informative. Innovative teaching techniques will be the order of the day as our faculty once again proves how resourceful they are. It is on this day that we focus on our most important function, the teaching of our students.

Thursday receives a double designation. Just as last year it is Appreciation Day. We encourage our school family to stop and say thank you to those people who have been especially helpful to them. Students and teachers will be involved in activities recognizing outstanding service to individuals and to the school. This year the day will also be "Dressin' Up Day". We'll be looking to our folks to put on their best duds to help top off the day. We want our students to have pride in their appearance as well as in that of their school.

Friday ends the activities with Black and Gold Day. A spirit assembly will be held complete with prizes, a pep rally, and other activities. We'll be encouraging a large student turn-out for that night's basketball game with Shelby. The cafeteria staff will provide a buffet meal for lunch. The week's events will conclude with a dance for our students after the game that night.

During the entire week the school intercom will be used to recognize students and faculty members who have made outstanding contributions to our school. The S.P.O. is sponsoring an essay contest on the theme "What Kings Mountain Senior High School means to me." Other clubs and organizations will sponsor related activities.

In order to be successful MAD Week must have carry-over value. The things we emphasize during the week are things we need to work on each week. By spot-lighting them during this time we hope our entire school community will better remember its responsibilities to continue to make our school a special place. We want each of our students to know that he or she can make a difference in our success. School can never be any better than a person makes it for himself. I hope our students will want to do all they can to make our school better by the time MAD Week is over.
