

Eaton To Close Ohio, Michigan Plants

CLEVELAND, OHIO—Eaton Corporation today announced that manufacturing operations of its engineered fasteners plant in Cleveland, Ohio and its engine valve plant in Battle Creek, Michigan would be phased out over the next 12 months. There are currently 310 employees at the Ohio facility and 255 employees at the Michigan plant.

The decision to close the two plants follows intense and frank discussions by management and labor to seek answers to the severe competitive problems which have been threatening the survival of each plant in recent years.

The increased competitive pressures from the current recession and bleak market outlooks and created conditions that could not be solved at the bargaining table. Both plants are covered by a UAW Master Contract which expires on February 6th. A third Eaton plant in Marshall, Michigan is also included in the Master Contract and negotiations on a new agreement for that facility continue.
