Running Buses Costs $3.5 Million

The operating cost of transporting North Carolina's 725,120 children to school on buses increased during the 1981-82 school year by almost $3.5 million over the previous year, according to annual audit figures released by the State Board of Education.

A total of $71,851,722 was spent to transport children in 1981-82 as compared with $68,376,247 spent in 1980-81. That represents an average cost to the State Public School Fund of $99.09 per child transported (excluding contracts and replacements) in 1981-82, an increase of $4.35 per child over the previous year. Cleveland County spent $83.66 transporting each child to school. Some local money was used for transportation.

Of the children who attended school in 1981-82, 69.7% rode the school bus, 7% more than the previous year. The total number of students depending on buses to get to school each day has increased over the past year, to 725,120 in 1981-82 as compared to 721,703 in 1980-81. 11,146 students in Cleveland County rode the bus to school each day during the 1981-82 school year.

The average bus traveled approximately 46.7 miles each day, carrying an average of 57 children. The average number of school children riding on each bus has declined over the past year, to 57 in 1981-82 from 57.2 in 1980-81. In Cleveland County buses traveled an average of 43.8 miles each day, carrying an average of 57.4 children.

There were 12,715 school buses operating during 1981-82, 93 more than were in operation in 1980-81. Cleveland County operated 193 school buses during the 1981-82 school year.

During 1981-82, $3,141,738 was spent for contract transportation and $19,058,799 was spent for major replacements.

Dear Friends,
Auto and other modes of travel are causing deaths to occur more frequently away from home. If your family should have this unfortunate experience, we suggest that you phone us, collect, to assist you in this crisis. Through our various funeral associations, we can properly arrange for the care and return of the deceased for funeral service.

Respectfully,
Ollie Harris
