Bethlehem Firemen Honored

By RICK McDANIEL
Monday night, members of the Bethlehem Volunteer Fire Department were busy at Paul Hord's Fish Camp—not fighting a fire, but enjoying a dinner in their honor.

For the third year, Bethlehem Firefighters were treated to a meal at the restaurant, compliments of Hord and his wife Joyce.

"We just do it to show our appreciation for the fine job they do," said Hord. "They work a lot of hours, nights and weekends, and don't really get much recognition."

Hord said that they had been fortunate to never require the services of the Department in the eight years they have operated the restaurant, but that several fires "just down the road here make you appreciate what they do".

Assistant fire Chief Brent Leigh said "It's really nice of Paul; to do this for us every year. We all really enjoy it."

Joe Speight, one of the volunteers said "I look forward to it all year. The food here is so good it almost makes my wife jealous!"

Hord said this years dinner was all the more special because it marks the 19th birthday of the Bethlehem unit.
