job "with an ACC school."

Lockee, a Taylorsville native, coached the Mountaineer basketballers to a 12-8 record last year. He rebuilt the program after losing all but one of the players off the team that won two consecutive Southwestern 3-A Conference championships. He served as a defensive secondary coach on the football team.

Lockee was assistant coach for several years in Caldwell County before taking the Kings Mountain job.

Superintendent Davis said Wednesday morning there was a "possibility he could change his mind. If so, we'd be glad to have him back."

Davis said Lockee, who is out of town, was supposed to let KMHS Principal Ronnie Wilson or head football coach Denny Hicks know by the end of the day Wednesday whether or not he's coming back.

"If we don't hear anything by the end of the day, we'll assume he's not coming back," Davis said. "But we would hope he'll stay with us."
