

Suit Filed Against KM

Some property owners at Moss Lake have filed a suit against the City of Kings Mountain charging that they have been denied free access to the lake.

The suit alleges that the property owners are forbidden to use a strip of land between their properties and the lake unless each leases his section of the strip for $125 annually.

The suit was filed on behalf of property owners by Buford and Wilda Cline. They sold their land to the city in 1971 for the purpose of flood control. According to Cline, an agreement reached at that time between the Clines and the city stated that the Clines' heirs and assigns would retain access across the strip. The suit contends that all of the lake front lots they subsequently sold retained those access rights.

According to Cline, no trespassing signs have been posted along the flood zones and the Kings Mountain Lake Authority has sent letters to the owners warning those who have not paid the fee that they may face criminal charges if they cut the grass along the string or use any pier that may already be in place.

The suit states that criminal charges have already been lodged against two owners, Jerry N. Floyd and Sara M. Deberry, alleging violations of a city ordinance forbidding the mooring of boats to private facilities.

However, the suit states, the ordinance does not require leasing of any area except for commercial facilities open to the public.

The Clines claim that attempts by the owners to pay a pier fee and other lake-related fees have been refused when not accompanied by the $125 waterfront use fee. Kings Mountain taxpayers do not have to lease the land in front of their property.

The suit charges the Lake Authority with enforcing regulations "in different ways at different times" and asks the court to determine the rights of the Clines and other property owners.

he currently holds and Campbell for the four years remaining on Jerry Ledford's term. Ledford also recently resigned but no one was appointed to fill his seat.

McDaniel is a native of the Bethlehem Community and works as a rural mail carrier for the Kings Mountain Post Office. He is a 1947 graduate of Grover High School and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dixie McDaniel. He is married to the former Helen Morris and has two children, David McDaniel, who lives in Kings Mountain, and Susie Terres, who resides in Shelby. The McDaniels have two grandchildren.

McDaniel served in the U.S. Army during the Korean Conflict. He is a Deacon in Bethlehem Baptist Church and served a two-year term as Moderator of the Kings Mountain Baptist Association.

TO SPEAK

Johnnie A. Barker will answer questions on the Book of Revelation August 29 at 7 p.m. at First Assembly of God, 105 Waco Road. Rev. Elwood Barnes, pastor, invites the public to attend.

FIRES

Kings Mountain firemen doused two fires during the past week. They put out a car fire Saturday at Holly Farms. The car was owned by Mike Wiggins of Dixie Trailer Park. Monday, the fire department stood by at the Linwood Crown Station, where a gas pump was struck by a car.

In announcing for the November 8 election, McDaniel said he would "continue to work for improvement of the Kings Mountain District Schools. I will always study the issues and vote my convictions for what is best for the children.

"I am willing to talk to anybody about any school problem as long as they are willing to identify themselves on the telephone," he added. "I will represent all the people in all areas of the school district."

McDaniel, who currently serves as vice-chairman of the school board, has attended every regular meeting and every called meeting during his six years on the board.

"I have enjoyed serving on the school board and would appreciate the opportunity to serve again," he said.

Filing for the school board election will begin on September 16 and continue through October 7.
