Junior High Girls Look For First Win

Kings Mountain Junior High's girls basketball team tries for its first victory Monday when it travels to West McDowell.

The junior high cagers are palying a split schedule this year with the girls playing before Christmas and the boys play after Christmas.

The Lady Patriots dropped their first five games 35-26 to Crest, 58-19 to East Rutherford, 60-39 to Shelby, 40-29 to Burns and 28-27 to East McDowell.

Kim Howell has had the top scoring effort to date, scoring 23 points in the loss to Shelby, Regina Brown scored 17 against East McDowell and 14 against Crest.

Coach Candy Albergine has only two returnees from last year's team, Amy Dover and Nancy Jo Weld. Other players are Regina Brown, Kim Howell, Shannon Stroupe, Tammie Adams, Shane Robinson, Justine Sherrer, Adriene Woods, Angela Woods, Leigh Ann Fulton, Jeana Elliott and Vickie Ellis.

"We're young and inexperienced but I've seen steady improvement the last month," says Albergine. "Since we don't have a jayvee team I've been playing young people. I figure if we're out classed against most teams, I might as well play seventh and eighth graders and give them that experience they need so badly."
