FOOD SERVICE STUDENTS...Sharron Clinton, Kevin Spencer, and Cecilia Guyton are learning the business of baking by turning goodies into "dough" in Mrs. Peggy Baird's Food Class.

Students Bake For Community

Students in Peggy Baird's Food Service Class at Kings Mountain High School are really getting down to the business of baking as their baked goods are becoming a big demand in the community.

Each day the students prepare goods such as wedding cakes, banana bread, chocolate pies and other baked goodies that are sold locally. "This is one way the students get actual first hand experience of preparing foods commercially. The proceeds from the projects also help to pay for the materials used in the class," stated Mrs. Baird.

In addition, the class sponsors a soup or salad bar each day for lunch. Faculty members who join the class at this time are served the food of the day by the food service students. This gives them experience at serving the food as well as the preparation of it.

Mrs. Baird stated that they are currently in the process of taking orders for upcoming holiday festivities in which the students will use more of their creative talents in the decorating of foods. The students recently made a wedding cake that was used for a ceremony in New York City. Their cooking is really in demand according to Mrs. Baird as they learn the business of baking.

Thanks To The Citizens Of Our "Historical City"

For your consideration of me Nov. 8, I congratulate Mr. Norman King on his victory and I will continue to work for the betterment of our "Famous City".

Auxiliary Donates $250 To Toy Store

The White Plains Auxiliary gave a $250.00 donation to the Kings Mountain Baptist Association. Members of the auxiliary gave the check to the Director of Missions recently for use in their "Toy Store." The store is an effort by the Baptist Association, consisting of 73 county churches, to provide a place for low-income parents to come and shop for their children's Christmas presents.

Cline Borders, Director of Missions, stated the money would be very useful in filling in gaps for items in certain age brackets. The Auxiliary raises funds for this contribution annually by holding various activities throughout the year.

Ree Moss, Auxiliary Secretary; Cindy Tindall, Auxiliary Member; and Cindi Stinchcomb, Auxiliary President were present to give the check to Cline Borders, Director of missions for the Kings Mountain Baptist Association.
