

Classics On 'Light Side Planned Here May 4th

'Classics On the Light Side' are on tap for Kings Mountain residents when the North Carolina Symphony Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Associate Conductress James Ogle, performs in Kings Mountain's Barnes Auditorium at KMSHS on Friday, May 4, at 8 p.m.

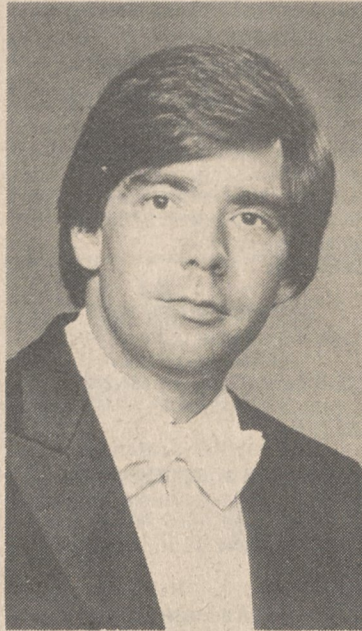

The program includes Rossini's 'La Scala di Seta Overture', Haydn's 'Symphony No. 94 Surprise', Glinkda's 'Kamarinskaya', Brahms' 'Hungarian Dances 1,3, and 10', Gershwin's 'Selections from Porgy and Bess', Tchaikovsky's 'Waltz from Serenade for Strings', Johann Strauss, 'Perpetuum Mobile' and Josef Strauss' 'Jokey Polka.'

Single ticket prices are $5.50. James Ogle, a graduate of the University of Michigan, is now in his sixth season as associate conductress of the North Carolina Symphony, after having served four years as its assistant conductress.

Winner of the symphony's first Young Conductor Competition in 1974, he was also a 1974 winner in the Malko International Conducting Competition held in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Ogle appeared with the International Festival of Young Artists Orchestra in Leysin, Switzerland and won the statewide James Bland Memorial Scholarship contest in Virginia. He has also been a guest conductor of 'Music from Bear Valley', a music festival held each summer in the High Sierra Mountains of California.

JAMES OGLE

He studied at the National Conservatory of Music in Paris and with Igor Markevitch in France. In 1980 Ogle studied with Seiji Ozawa, Leonard Bernstein, Andre Previn, and Sir Colin Davis at the renowned Tanglewood Music Festival, summer home of the Boston Symphony.

For the past three summers, Ogle has been music director and conductor-in-residence at Appalachian State's Cannon Music Camp where this year he also coordinated a one-week residency during July for the full North Carolina Symphony.
