

Mauney Hosiery Honors Employees

Mauney Hosiery Mills honored 82 employees with service records, certificates of perfect attendance, and for 25 or more years of continuous service at the annual Awards Banquet Monday night at Holiday Inn.

President W.K. Mauney, Jr. and General Manager Charles F. Mauney joined the keynote speaker, Gardner Webb College President Dr. Craven Williams, in commending the group of employees.

Making the presentations were supervisors David Ray, Jerry Webster, James Greene, Joe Wyte, David Faunce and Charles F. Mauney. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Mauney, Mrs. W.K. Mauney, Jr., Mrs. Charles Mauney, Mrs. Craven Williams and Lib Stewart.

Mauney Hosiery Mills was organized 45 years ago this summer in the basement of a cardroom at Mauney Mills in Kings Mountain. Today, the plant numbers 250 employees and 20 percent of them have been with the company more than five years while three of them, Edna E. Tindall, James Greene and Aileen McDaniel have worked for Mauney Hosiery 40 years or more.

Quoting Charles Dickens who said in April 1884, "it is the worst and best of times," Dr. Williams said that in 1984 there is an apprehension about the future with a society that tries to politic its way to happiness. "I wish I could carry your message to the graduates I will be speaking to this commencement season. You have been loyal, trustworthy, and successful in your jobs because you took the initiative," said Williams, who interspersed his remarks with humorous anecdotes.
