Lisa Edwards Named President Of Year

Lisa Edwards, rising senior at Kings Mountain Senior High and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Edwards, was honored as President of the Year in the Cleveland County Junior Achievement organization at the annual banquet Tuesday night.

Miss Edwards was also elected a delegate to the National Junior Achievement convention to be held this summer at the University of Indiana.

She is a recent inductee in the National Honor Society at Kings Mountain Senior High and is also a delegate to Girls State from the American Legion Auxiliary.

Kings Mountain's Youth Achievement Program is sponsored by Eaton Corporation.

Bob Alexander, director of Junior Achievement of Cleveland County, made the awards presentation. Also honored were students who excelled as vice president of finance; vice president of production; vice president of personnel; achiever of the year and company of the year.

Michael Griffin, president of the Junior Achievement club of Cleveland County, welcomed the group.

Sponsoring firms are Dover Textiles, Eaton Corporation, PPG Industries, and Union Carbide.

Basis for the President of the Year award was for interview, written tests, and achievement as local president and attendance.

The Gaston County Commission on the Status of Women will hold a public information forum entitled, 'Laws Affecting Women' Thursday, May 3, at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of the Gaston County Public Library.

Workshop Scheduled

The Annual Southwestern District Handicraft Workshop will be held June 12 and 13 at Livingston College in Salisbury, N.C. The workshop is sponsored by the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service to provide training by skilled craftsmen to persons interested in learning a specific craft and who will in turn teach the craft to others.

Classes to be offered are: tatting, wood carving, stained glass, trapunto vest, design it yourself, shadow-trapunto quilting, basket weaving, open work handanger embroidery, calligraphy, rug hooking, rag rug weaving, chair bottoming with diagonal flat reed, battenberg lace (Brussels Lace), chair caning, and decorative pillow construction.

The registration fee for the workshop is $6.00. Material fees vary with the class. Arrangements may also be made for room and/or board. Classes will be filled on a first come basis so you will want to register right away. For further information and to register, call Nancy H. Abasiokong, Home Economics Extension Agent at the county Extension Office (482-4365). Registration deadline is May 10.

UNC-G Sets Reception In Shelby

Alumni of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro who live in Kings Mountain and Cleveland County are invited to attend a special reception from 3-5 p.m. on Saturday, April 28, at the Cleveland County Historical Museum in Shelby.

Guest speaker for the event will be Dr. Richard Bardolph, who retired in 1980 as a UNC-G professor of history. Dr. Bardolph's 36 years on campus saw him win the coveted O. Max Gardner Award in 1979, the highest honor which the UNC system can bestow on a faculty member, and a UNC-G Alumni Teaching Excellence Award in 1980.

Refreshments will be served at 3 p.m. with Dr. Bardolph scheduled to speak at 3:45 p.m. Co-chairpersons for the event are Shelby residents Kathleen Thompson of 417 W. Marion St. and Frances Evans of 816 Parkwood Road. There are 191 UNC-G alumni currently living in Cleveland County.

Women To Speak

Laws Affecting Women, Inc. will discuss current issues and questions relating to laws that have direct effects on all women.

Topics for the forum include: Family Law, New N.C. Laws, Credit, Property Rights, Child Support, Family Law, and Work Place Inequalities.

This is the third in a series of seminars that have been planned involving major issues affecting women.

"Women must think of their futures and we encourage the women of the Kings Mountain area to take part in these seminars", said a spokesman.

The program is free and open to the interested public, said Libby Sicheloff, a member of the Women and the Law Task Force from the Gaston County Commission on the Status of Women.

Another seminar on Women and Financial Security will be held on May 22.
