KM Anglers Head Field For Wateree Bass Event

Camden, S.C.-Nearly 170 fishermen have registered to compete July 8 on Wateree Lake in the fifth Carolina Division bass fishing event on the Red Man Tournament Trail. The field may expand by the time all properly postmarked entries are received.

Of the 24 point standings leaders in the Carolina Division, 22 will compete on Lake Wateree. Leading the way are the top five: Charlie Foster of Kings Mountain, Bruce Ellison of Spartanburg, S.C., Mike Seawright of Kings Mountain, Larry J. Parker of Lake City, S.C., and David J. Wright of Lexington, N.C.

Anglers from Florida, Georgia, and Tennessee will join the Carolinians on Lake Wateree. They will be competing for about $6,562 in total prize money (based on an estimated 175 entrants) with the winner earning about $2,187. Cash awards go to the top 10 percent of the field.

Other Kings Mountain area fishermen entered in the event are Keeter Hamrick of Kings Mountain, Robert Crawford of Kings Mountain, William Phillips of Shelby, Jesus Loaces of Shelby, Steve Cody of Shelby and Dennis Clary of Cherryville.

Competition will begin at dawn on Sunday out of Deal's Marina. Each fisherman is paired by computer with a partner to assure the integrity of the tournament. Weigh-in time will be around 3 p.m.

Anglers in Red Man Tournament Trail events are encouraged to release their fish live to the waters after weigh-in. Each live fish is worth two bonus ounces.

Jones Intercable Sets National Fund-Raiser

Jones Intercable of Cherryville will join Special Olympics on a national fund-raising drive beginning July 5th. This first time nation-wide event, which involves Jones Intercable systems, will include a taped national telecast of the 2nd Annual Cable Stars 5/10K Run created and produced by Jones Intercable. The program will air July 24, 28, 29 and 30, and all of the proceeds will benefit Special Olympics, it was announced today by Glenn Jones, Chairman, Jones Intercable, Inc.

"The world's largest program of physical fitness, sports training and athletic competition for mentally retarded children and adults, Special Olympics receives the bulk of its financial support at the local level," according to Sargent Shriver, President, Special Olympics, Inc. "It is through community efforts such as this event, spearheaded by Jones Intercable, that we can claim that 75% of our contributions come from cities like Cherryville, and we are delighted that our kids have such dedicated friends throughout the country."

As a part of the fund-raiser, Jones Intercable will be offering a free installation of basic cable, 15.00 value, to new subscribers as well as a free hook-up for an upgrade in pay services, $15 value, to current subscribers who make a $5 Special Olympics donation.

"In addition to presenting high quality family entertainment," says Steve Walters, Jones Intercable, Cherryville "it is our intention that events like this be a part of our overall effort aimed at total community involvement. The race will feature 1984 Olympic competitors' from several countries, as well as cable television celebrities, and the Special Olympics will debut its national toll-free number (800) for AHUG, enabling viewers to call in their donations to Special Olympics."

Jones Intercable, Inc., headquartered in Englewood, Colorado, is ranked 17th among the nation's cable television operators.
