

Ingram Awarded Scholarship

Kings Mountain's Lisa Ingram has been awarded a basketball scholarship at North Greenville College in Tigerville, S.C.

Lisa will report to school on August 25 and will open practice with the team on October 1.

Ingram was a three-year performer at KMHS and helped lead the Mountaintettes to their first ever Southwestern 3-A Conference title her junior year. Last year, she averaged eight points and 6.5 assists per game in leading the KM ladies to a 12-8 record and fourth place in the SWC, and served as team captain.

Ingram won the Mountaintettes' free throw shooting award for compiling the best free throw percentage (73) during all practice sessions and games. She also was a U.S. National Award winner in basketball through the U.S. National Achievement program.

In addition to standing out on the basketball court, Ingram was also the only female on the KMHS cross country team, which won all but one of its regular season meets and finished second to R-S Central in the SWC. She qualified for the Sectional Cross country meet in Morganton.

Racing Slated At Concord

CONCORD, N.C. - Concord Speedway will host its regular weekly racing program this Friday and Saturday nights, but plans are already set for the Aug. 31-Sept. 1 Labor Day Classic.

Identical 8 p.m. racing cards are slated this Friday and Saturday nights, with action on tap in all four divisions, late model sportsman, semi modified, hobby and super stock.

The Labor Day Classic will also feature all four divisions, with a 75-lap late model feature on Sept. 1, paying $3,000 to the winner, headlining the two nights of action.

The Aug. 1 racing card will include 10-lap heat races and dash for cash events for the late models and semi-modifieds, with 15-lap heats on tap for the hobby and super stock competitors. Those heat races will determine the starting grids for the feature events the following night.

Along with the 75-lap late model chase, the Sept. 1 card will include a 50-lap semi modified chase, paying $2,000 to win, and 30-lap main events for the hobby and super stock drivers, each paying the winner $500.

Track point leader Doug Osteen of Woodruff, S.C. heads the list of speedway regulars expected to be on hand to challenge a host of "outsiders" in the lucrative Labor Day event.

Other late model feature winners at Concord this season have been Ernie Irvan, Hayward Plyler, Buck Simmons, Tim Gordon, Freddie Smith, Jeff Purvis, Wayne Sharpe, Mike Duvall and Gary Balough, many of which will be on hand for the Labor Day Classic.

Osteen will be gunning for his second win in a row at the 4-mile dirt track Friday night, after besting Ernie Irvan of Concord, N.C. in a slam-bang, controversial main event last Saturday night.

Attempting to start a new winning streak will be Doug Efrid in the hobby class. Efrid, the winner of 17 hobby features at Concord this season, carried a string of 11 consecutive wins in last Saturday's action.

Efrid had to start in the rear of a very competitive field, after missing the division's heat races, and wound up 11th in the main event.
