YOUR QUALITY INVESTMENT
By RUBY ALEXANDER

You've always known that real estate was a first-class investment—and now statistics prove that owning your home is a top inflation fighter. Land values went up at twice the rate of inflation between 1920 and 1980, as measured by cost of finished residential lots.

When you SELL your real estate, you want to get all the appreciation your investment has earned. There's no reason to settle for less than your house is worth.

That's why you need the help of a real estate professional. We keep up with the current market—recent sales of comparable properties—so we know what a house like yours can bring. We know what money costs: how the current interest rate will affect prospects' willingness to buy. We have qualified buyers. When it comes to talking price, possession, or any variables, we negotiate for you.

Sell smart. Put the real estate experts to work for you. List with ALEXANDER REALTY 739-1616.
