Discount Buying

Visitors to North Carolina for the 400th Anniversary celebration have the opportunity to participate in a favorite sport of many trying to meet a budget—discount buying.

North Carolina is one of the best shopping centers in America with over 200 factory outlets and name brand discount shopping outlets in the central part of the state alone.

Furniture, clothing, lingerie, linens, shoes, dinnerware, rugs, pottery, toys, cookware, uniforms, pianos, wallpaper and chandeliers are all offered at discount prices at various locations across the state.

The buys are so good that many travel agents in the eastern United States schedule bus tours to some of the areas with heavy concentrations of discount items.

Offered for sale are items ranging from first quality name brands to irregulars and closeouts which are priced accordingly.

Most of the outlets are located near major traffic arteries in cities and towns all over the state.

The largest center for discount buying is Burlington where there are two outlet shopping centers in addition to over 20 independently operating outlet stores.

But many other major outlets are located in Raleigh, Durham, Roanoke Rapids, Gastonia, Asheville, Asheboro, Lexington, Salisbury, Kannapolis, Concord, Greensboro, Lumberton, High Point, Winston-Salem and Eden.

The manufacturers range from top to mid-line products. Some offer catalogues to interested customers, most accept credit cards, all are accessible to shoppers.

Why is North Carolina home to so many factory outlets and discount shopping stores? Partly because of the early history of manufacturing in the state.

Before the advent of the automobile, many places in North Carolina were not easily accessible, but labor was and remains cost effective.

Manufacturers found the state an ideal location with a ready work force, and an abundance of raw materials to provide goods for the rest of the country.

They also discovered that their employees were interested in owning products they themselves had helped to make, so were their friends and families.

As a result, employees' stores featuring company manufactured products began opening their doors and finding an accessible market. Word of mouth created an active market and more and more manufacturers got into the business.

Outlet guides are available for a small fee from Central Publications, PO Box 2550, Greensboro, NC 27402 and Carolina Publications, PO Box 2550, Greensboro, NC 27407.

Free maps to area outlets are available through Burlington Bag and Luggage, 2679 Ramada Rd., Burlington, NC 27215.

Meet The Settlers Scheduled

You can "meet the settlers" at Crowders Mountain State Park on Saturday, Nov. 10 at 1 p.m., 2 p.m. or 3 p.m. (follow signs at the park office).

You can take a short walk into the "uncharted wilderness" of the Carolina Backcountry of 1754.

You will encounter a small band of brave pioneers recently arrived from Pennsylvania.

As you share in their simple meal you may talk with these folk about their European origins, their adventures along the Great Wagon Road, and their hopes and fears for the future here on the edge of civilization.

A part of the "Carolina's Coming of Age: Beginnings" history project, this unique experience is sponsored by Schiele Museum in cooperation with Crowders Mountain State Park.

You're invited to join in for an intimate look at our Piedmont Carolina beginnings.

Edwin Booth is the only actor in the American Hall of Fame.
