'The Crucible' Slated At Gaffney Theatre

"The Crucible" by Arthur Miller will open the Gaffney Little Theatre season for 1984-85. The play is an exciting drama about the Puritan purge of witchcraft in old Salem and is both a gripping historical play and a timely parable of our contemporary society.

Twenty-one locals persons make up the cast and they represent various occupations and professions. Some are newcomers to the G.L.T. stage and others are "oldtimers." Youthful roles will be played by members of The Youth Theatre.

The technic staff includes Tedi Hoke Gibbons, director; Dean Ross, producer; Robin Pennington, stage manager; Vince Branciforte, sound and lighting.

Opening night for "The Crucible" is November 29. Other performances are scheduled for Nov. 30, Dec. 2,6,7,8,9.

Reservations to "The Crucible" may be made by calling 489-4589 or 489-1900. Those who are members of the Gaffney Little Theatre will be admitted. Memberships are still available at $15.00 and this will admit the members to all performances during the season.

Smith Wins At Gaffney

Gaffney, S.C.—Freddy Smith finished strong to win the season's final late model sportsman season at the Cherokee Speedway Saturday afternoon.

Bill Morgan, Billy Scott, Johnny Hightower and Robert Bradley finished out the top five. Scott led early in the race but spun out.

Pete Ivey won the cadet feature. Roger Hamrick was the street winner.

Acteens To Visit Gardner-Webb College

Acteens from North Carolina Baptist churches will be the guests of Gardner-Webb College Dec. 1 for a Lady Bulldog basketball game at 3 p.m. in the Paul Porter Arena.

The acteens, a Baptist church organization for teenage girls, and their chaperones will be admitted to the game free of charge.

"Women's basketball is exciting and we would be delighted to have acteens as our guests for the game," coach Sallie Black said. "We have our best team ever."

Dina Smith, a senior forward from Columbus, N.C. is in her final season at G-W and will be working this season to break the all time career point total. She needs only 515 points.

"Dina is an exciting player and was ranked as high as seventh in the nation and first in the state throughout most of the season last year," Black said.

For more information about bringing acteens or any church group to this or another game, contact Pam Scruggs at (704)434-2361 ext. 398.

Among the following North Carolina churches represented by G-W basketball players: Sandra Tate, Macedonia Baptist Church in Morganton; Angie Black, First Baptist Church in Traveler's Rest; Wendy Shew, Round Hill Baptist Church in Traphill; Jackie Littlejohn, Providence Baptist Church in Lincolnton; Donna Robertson, Stough Memorial Baptist Church in Pineville; Lolita Rowe, St. John Baptist Church in Taylorsville; Dina Smith, Pacelot Hills Baptist Church, Columbus, N.C.; and Penny Stanton, Calvary Baptist Church in Mars Hill.

Gardner-Webb is a liberal arts college affiliated with the Baptist State Convention of N.C., offering associate, bachelor and master's degrees. The college is noted for its independence of federal funding.
