Mileage Rules Change

Record keeping rules have changed for 1985 for persons who use their personal vehicle for business use, according to Eddie Spark, New Office Supervisor for the H&R Block office in the Herald Building in Kings Mountain. Sparks says that the IRS now requires that current records be kept for all business mileage that taxpayers will claim a credit for on their 1985 tax return.

H&R Block has a record book that makes complying with this new rule very simple and this book is available without charge for all taxpayers. Mr. Sparks says that anyone may come by the H&R Block office Monday through Friday from 9 til 9 or weekends between 9 and 5 and he will be glad to explain the new rules and show interested persons how to keep accurate records.

Sparks also said, "This may prove to be a real benefit for taxpayers because most people underestimate their mileage when they 'guesstimate'. Accurate records will probably give them an even larger deduction."

For further information you can call H&R Block at 739-2865. These record keeping books and information are also available at the Block offices in Shelby, Akers Center, S. York Road and Union Rd. in Gastonia.
