This Week's Health News & Views

Pharmacists like basketball heroes
 In some respects the pharmacist is like the basketball player who plays the whole game unnoticed, but who scores the winning goal.

It only takes a second, but perhaps the most important obligation that a pharmacist has to his team of health officials is to insure a correct, safe prescription. We're the ones on your health team to take a shot at catching a possible last second error in your medication.

Twenty-four hours a day, like the basketball player, your pharmacist stands ready to score when you need the points!
