BORIC ACID LOSES CREDIBILITY
Boric acid and baking soda may be effective to rid your houses of roaches, but its antibacterial use is no longer considered valid as a medical procedure for minor eye, ear, mouth and skin infections.

Demonstrated toxicity has let to FDA scrutiny as to its use in eye preparations for antibacterial applications. Pharmacists may continue selling boric acid solutions, crystals and powder, and products that contain the drug as an antimicrobial agent, albeit it is neither effective nor particularly safe as such.

PICTURE PERFECT
By Ruby M. Alexander

If you're thinking about selling your home, remember that prospective buyers will judge your house from the outside first. You'll want to make it picture perfect. Be sure that the front door and shutters are freshly painted, that the windows and sills are clean and all minor repairs taken care of. Dirt twigs and leaves should be removed from gutters and leaders, as well as from roof shingles.

A home will look most valuable when fallen branches and other yard debris have been carted away. Extra seeding, sod rolls or lawn plugs will thicken your lawn and take care of bald spots. Fertilizer will make the grass greener.

Good garden grooming calls for careful edging around paths and driveway, and shaping of shrubbery and small trees. A good landscaper can help. You may consider even adding some new greenery.

Be sure that all trash is properly bagged or covered, and is neatly by the curb. A thin, inexpensive do-it-yourself layer of blacktop will cover unsightly oil stains on your driveway, and help make your home attractive.

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N.C.

Dear Friends,
An American flag to drape the casket of a qualified deceased veteran may be supplied on application to the VA or to most local post offices.
